Charge Result of Refusal Of Oil Man to Answer Teapot Probe Questions

JURY OUT 21 HOURS

Seven Reported for Conviction on First Vote; Three Ballots Necessary

By HERBERT LITTLE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, was acquitted by a jury today on a charge of contempt of the senate.

The charge resulted from Stewart's refusal to answer questions of the senate Teapot Dome committee, concerning the Continental Trading company, on his appearance to testify last February 2 and 3. The senate subsequently cited him to U. S. Attorney Lee A. Rorer, who obtained an indictment.

The alleged misdemeanor would have carried a sentence of from one month to one year in a "common jail" and a fine of from $100 to $10,000. A full sentence is mandatory upon conviction under this statute, section 102, which is more than 100 years old.

Jury Out 21 Hours
The verdict was returned at 10:10 a.m. The jury had deliberated over the case two minutes over 21 hours.

The jurors reported through their foreman they found Stewart not guilty on each of the four counts of the indictment. The acquittal verdict was reached on the third ballot.

The first ballot was five for acquittal, seven for conviction. The second was nine for acquittal, three for conviction. The third ballot was 12 for acquittal.

Judge Siddons' charge to the jury directed the eight men and four women to decide only on the

Quarrel Between Aimee McPherson, Mother Reopened

LOS ANGELES, June 14.—The grudge fight between Aimee McPherson, evangelist, and her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, now in the northwest, was reopened today.

In a telegram to local newspapers, Mrs. Kennedy said she was to return here soon and intended Mrs. McPherson was attempting to mortgage Angelus temple to obtain $250,000 for personal use.

Mrs. McPherson answered that the charge was ridiculous and said she "deplored another disgusting controversy."

The mother and daughter separated almost a year ago in a dispute over Angelus temple finances.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Twenty-six college professors of southwestern states were guests at a convention in New Orleans last January, financed by the National Electric Light association to tighten the bonds between the so-called "power trust" and the educational system of Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Mississippi, it was revealed before the federal trade commission today.

1200 Men Fight To Prevent Break In Levee

KENNETT, Mo., June 14.—Twelve hundred men, including 200 Missouri national guardsmen, were at work on a 25-mile stretch of levee on the St. Francis river near here today attempting to avert a threatened break.

Reports reaching Mayor R. R. Pankay, of Kennett, today said the water generally was eight to 10 inches from the top, and that in spots there had been an overflow.

10 INJURED IN AUTO CRASHES ON WEDNESDAY

Occupants Escape Serious Hurts in Six S. A. Accidents in One Day

Although yesterday was not Friday, it was the thirteenth day of the month, which may account for a series of six automobile accidents reported in Santa Ana, in which 10 persons were injured. None of the injured was hurt seriously, according to reports filed at the police station.

Six persons were hurt when an automobile driven by Mrs. A. A. Voorhes, 228 Servier street, Brea, collided with a car driven by Kenneth Lee, 810 South Flower street, at Broadway and Fairview, late yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Voorhes' machine turned over and she and five others in the car were dumped into the street.

Mrs. Voorhes, Mrs. Helen Leech, Brea, and four small children were cut and bruised. They were taken

LOS ANGELES, June 14.—After he promised to marry her and after they had lived together as man and wife, Henry C. Schults, wealthy real estate dealer, refused to take her as his life mate, Mrs. Helen Leech charged in her suit for $150,000 damages on file today.

Both Schults and Mrs. Bryant formerly were residents of Peoria, Ill., her complaint said.

Today's Program At Republican Convention

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 14.—Today's program for the Republican national convention probably will be as follows, according to Senator George Moses, permanent chairman:

Morning session: Consideration of platform.

Night session: Placing of candidates for president in nomination—those presented to the convention probably will be Herbert Hoover, of California; Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois; Charles Curtis, of Kansas; James E. Watson, of Indiana; Guy D. Goff, of West Virginia.

Balloting for president will take place immediately afterwards, although probably a dinner recess will intervene before this point is reached.

Selection of vice presidential candidates to be deferred until Friday.

This group of economic, engineering and business instructors was brought together by Q. M. Blain, director of the southwest committee on public utilities information, who was on the stand before the commission.

Its chief purpose, according to Blain, was to develop public utilities courses in the southwestern colleges so that a trained group of young men would be available for employment by the power companies of those states. It also served to create favorable publicity for the corporations, documents submitted by Judge Robert E. Haley, counsel for the commission, revealed.

Gordon, Chicago, editor of a magazine largely supported by Samuel Insull, middle western utilities magnate, the federal trade commission was informed today.

In a letter to J. B. Sheridan, St. Louis utility man, boasting his magazine, Gordon told him on November 16, 1925:

"We have recently supplied U. S. Senator Bruce, of Maryland, with a great mass of information for his use at the forthcoming session of congress. This will be of the greatest importance to utilities everywhere."

Gordon suggested to Sheridan that Missouri utilities supply mem-

Dawes' Name Eliminated By Hoover Forces

MacNider, Deneen, Curtis, Tilson, Moses, Edge Now in Field

By RAYMOND CLAPPER (United Press Staff Correspondent)

CONVENTION HALL, KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 14.—Republican party leaders have narrowed the vice presidential fight down to six candidates—three from the mid-west and three from the east.

They will enter tonight and reach a decision which they will attempt to put through the convention tomorrow.

The six candidates in the field now are:

From the mid-west: Hanford MacNider, of Iowa; Senator Deneen, of Illinois; Senator Curtis, of Kansas.

From the east: Representative Tilson, of Connecticut; Senator Moses, of New Hampshire; Senator Edge, of New Jersey.

Dawes Eliminated
Vice President Dawes virtually has been eliminated, as the Hoover forces did not want him, it was authoritatively reported this morning.

Before the leaders agree upon the actual candidate, they must decide whether they will go to the east or take a candidate from the west.

Two fundamental differences of strategy are involved. One group wants to pick the vice president from the farm belt to offset Hoover's alleged weakness there. That group feels that Governor Smith, if nominated, is fairly certain of carrying the big Atlantic seaboard states, and that the Republicans should concentrate their drive on holding the middle west for the Republican ticket.

The other group takes the view that the farm belt, being at heart Republican from the time of the Civil war, will rally to Hoover as soon as the wounds of the convention heal and that the party

LOSES FARM FIGHT

Senator Robert La Follette, of Wisconsin, whose minority platform report, including a demand for enactment of the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill, was overwhelmingly defeated today on the floor of the Republican national convention. La Follette made a stirring speech and was heartily cheered by the delegates, but his cause was hopeless.

LA FOLLETTE IN PLEA FOR FARM RELIEF ACTION

Offers Minority Platform Asking Enactment of McNary Bill

(By United Press)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 14.—A minority platform for the Republican party, sponsored by Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin, was offered the convention here today.

It came out strongly for "prompt enactment of the McNary-Haugen bill and its administration by those in sympathy with its objects."

Further it favored federal operation of Muscle Shoals, Boulder dam and other strategic power plants; condemned the 20-year naval building program; denounced the leasing of the naval oil reserves; declared against use of injunctions against labor, and favored "liberalization of the Volstead act along the lines proposed by popular referendums in several states."

Portions of the platform are as follows:

Allegiance to Party
"We here declare renewed allegiance to the party."

MINORITY PROPOSAL GOES DOWN, 817-267, DESPITE WARNING OF PARTY SPLIT

Hoover Expected to Win on First Vote When Convention Reconvenes At 7 O'clock Tonight

DEMONSTRATION FOR LOWDEN

By CARL D. GROAT

United Press Staff Correspondent

CONVENTION HALL, KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 14.—The Republican national convention today made short shrift of the farm revolt and then adopted, viva voce, the "regular" platform, with its Hoover-Jardine farm plank.

By a vote of 817 to 267, the convention killed a substitute minority farm plank, which, without naming the McNary-Haugen bill, intimated that measure and its equalization fee.

The convention voted down, in a last minute burst, a well plank offered by President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia university, and then rushed off to lunch.

Tonight, nominations will be made and, under the present plan, Herbert Hoover will be made the Republican presidential choice on the first ballot.

The day's session saw a tremendous outburst of enthusiasm. President Coolidge was acclaimed for his veto of the McNary-Haugen bill. Herbert Hoover was wildly cheered.

The farmer men, flanking both sides of the great hall, burst into a four to five-minute demonstration for their farm aid project.

A chorus in the gallery spurred farmer friends on and the tide swelled for a few minutes.

Farm leaders gave plain warnings to the party that disaster might be its share in November if it failed to heed the pleas and warnings of the tillers of the soil.

Keep Administration Plank
The platform, as adopted, contained the administration relief plank, proposing aid to farm co-operatives in creation of a federal farm bureau, but omitting the equalization fee.

"Young Bob" La Follette, senator from Wisconsin, son of the late "Fighting Bob" La Follette, stirred the assembly with his oratory and earnestness in offering a substitute minority platform, more far reaching in its farm provision, corporation plank and other features.

Earl C. Smith, of Detroit, Pike county, Illinois, started the fight after the convention had slaughtered a minority platform offered, in a brilliant speech, by Senator La Follette. His report called for enactment of the McNary-Haugen bill.

La Follette fought a losing fight but a good one, and when he ended the galleries cheered him loudly and the delegates themselves applauded.

His speech had been interrupted by still another demonstration for victory over the farm bloc in committee, after a sensational battle lasting since Tuesday night.

DRY LAW PLANK IS STRONGEST EVER OFFERED

Promises Tariff Increase

Promises were made for promotion of farm marketing legislation; for increased tariff on agricultural products affected by foreign competition; for government loans to encourage diversification and for measures which will place the agricultural interests of America on a basis of economic equality with other industries to insure its prosperity and success.

All through the 9000-word document the drafters pointed to what the party had done for the farmer.

There were eight outstanding planks on prohibition, honesty in government, campaign expenses, agriculture, the tariff, foreign policy, labor injunctions and public utilities. They may be summarized with the following excerpts:

Prohibition. "The people, through the method provided by the constitution, have written the eighteenth amendment into the constitution. The Republican party pledges itself and its nominees to the observance and vigorous enforcement of this provision of the constitution."

Honesty in Government. "We deplore the fact that any official has ever fallen from high standards and that certain American citizens of both parties have so far forgotten their duty as citizens as to traffic in interests for private gain."

Campaign Expenditures. "The improper use of money in governmental and political affairs is a great national evil. One of the most effective remedies for this abuse is publicity in all matters touching campaign contributions and expenditures."

"The Republican party will file with the committees of the house and senate a complete account of all contributions, the names of the contributors, the amounts expended and for what purposes, and will at all times hold its records and books touching such matters open for inspection."

Agriculture. "The agricultural problem is national in scope and, as such, is recognized by the Republican party which pledges its strength and energy to the solution of the same."

"We promise every assistance in the reorganization of the marketing system on sounder and more economical lines, and where diversification is needed, government financial assistance during the period of transition."

"The Republican party pledges itself to the enactment of legislation creating a federal farm board, vested with the necessary powers to promote the establishment of a farm marketing system of farmer-owned and controlled stabilization corporations or associations."

"We favor adequate tariff protection to such of our agricultural products as are affected by foreign competition."

"We favor, without putting the government into business, the establishment of a federal system of organization for co-operative and orderly marketing of farm products."

Tariff. "We reaffirm our belief in the protective tariff as a fundamental and essential principle of the economic life of this nation."

"We realize that there are certain industries which cannot now compete successfully with foreign producers because of lower foreign wages and lower cost of living abroad and we pledge the next Republican congress to an examination and, where necessary, a revision of these schedules to the end that American labor in these industries may again command the home market."

"We endorse the proposal of the secretary of state for multilateral treaty to renounce any obligations under the covenant of the League of Nations."

"The Republican party will continue to support American rights in Mexico, as elsewhere in the world, and, at the same time, promote and strengthen friendship and confidence."

"The marines now in Nicaragua are there to protect American lives and property and to aid in carrying out an agreement whereby we have undertaken to do what we can to restore and maintain order and to insure a fair and free election."

"We shall always be glad to be of assistance to China when our duty is clear."

"This government definitely has refused membership in the League of Nations and to assume any obligations under the covenant of the League of Nations. Thus we stand."

Labor Injunctions. "We believe that injunctions in labor disputes have in some instances been abused and have given rise to a serious question for legislation."

Public Utilities. "While recognizing that at times federal regulation might be more effective than state in controlling intra-state utilities, the party favors and has sustained state regulation, believing that such responsibility in the end will create a force of state public opinion which will be more effective in preventing discrimination and injustices."

Only brief mention was made of water power development under the head of "conservation." The party was pledged to a policy of permanent retention of power sites on government land "and power privileges on navigable streams, and one-third of the potential water power resources in the United States," as has been assured by the federal water power act. Boulder dam and Muscle Shoals legislation were not mentioned.

Reviews Accomplishments. The platform began by reviewing administration accomplishments. No better guarantee of prosperity can be given than the pledge to continue the Coolidge policies, it said.

"This promise we give and will faithfully perform," it added.

The record of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon was lauded as "unrivaled and unsurpassed."

The platform recognized depression in the mining industry and expressed desire of the party to "assist in any feasible plan for stabilization of the coal mining industry."

To labor, the platform would grant the right of collective bargaining, restriction of immigration and continuance of the present "high wage scale."

The merchant marine plank affirmed the Jones-White bill passed at the last session of congress. It made clear that the party does not believe in government ownership or operation of vessels, and stands for sale of government lines to private owners. It pointed out that the Jones-White bill provides for government maintenance only until sales can be effected.

Restrictive Immigration. The Republican doctrine of restrictive immigration was affirmed in a plank which urged congress to correct defects in the present law, for humanitarian reasons, and to provide an effective system of examining immigrants in their home countries so that they would not be brought across the sea on a useless voyage when unable to fulfill regulations.

Promise was made in the navy plank to keep the types of American combatant ships up to the full ratio of the arms conference treaties.

The only plank relating specifically to women pointed out that women delegates had been welcomed four years ago at the Cleveland convention and noted the record of appointments of women in the legal, diplomatic, judicial, treasury and other governmental departments.

should mass its forces with a view of carrying the fight to Governor Smith in the east.

Summarizing the advantages of the respective potential vice presidential candidates, we find:

MacNider From Corn Belt. Hanford MacNider, of Iowa, former assistant secretary of war, and post national commander of the American Legion. He comes from the heart of the corn belt, appeals to younger voters.

Senator Deneen, of Illinois. comes from Lowden's state and has just defeated Mayor William Hale Thompson and Gov. Len Small for control of Illinois. Illinois not only is the leader in the farm belt movement, but is the third largest state in electoral votes and will be a pivotal fighting ground.

Senator Curtis, of Kansas. highly popular in the farm belt, voted for the McNary-Haugen bill, but also voted to sustain the president's veto; Curtis is what is known as a politician's politician—his character, straight-forwardness and personal qualities make him, in his trade, one of the most respected and well liked men.

Tilson Popular in Congress. Representative Tilson, of Connecticut—Republican leader of the house and highly popular in congress, born in Tennessee and therefore regarded as having some pulling power in the border states; regarded as a logical man to be pitted against Representative Cordell Hull, of Tennessee, whom the Democrats are talking of nominating for vice president.

Senator Moses, of New Hampshire.—president pro-tem of the senate; permanent chairman of the convention; excellent campaigner with a caustic, satirical style, which some Republicans believe would be particularly useful against Governor Smith; strong in New England.

Senator Edge, of New Jersey.—wet and counted upon to hold New Jersey away from Smith on nullifying wet issues.

MAN WITH BROKEN BACK IS IMPROVED

The condition of J. E. Brown, West Seventeenth street, near Garden Grove, who suffered a broken back when he fell off a hay wagon several days ago, was reported improved today.

Brown fractured the fifth vertebra when a bale of hay slipped and he fell from the top of the stack on the wagon. He is at the Santa Ana Valley hospital, where physicians said he would recover.

According to the report, the child ran out in front of the car while playing in the street. McLeod reported that the boy suffered no broken bones.

Carolyn Cline, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Cline, 410 South Birch street, was cut about the head and arms at 6:30 p. m., yesterday, when she was knocked down by an automobile while crossing the street near her home. No report of the accident had been filed at the police station late today, but it was understood that the driver of the car was Mrs. C. Corning, 612 North Artesia street, according to the father of the child. The little girl was not badly hurt.

No one was reported injured when automobiles driven by Ed. F. Waite, 1608 North Broadway, and T. J. Mayer, Redlands, collided at the intersection of South Main and Edinger streets yesterday at 6 p. m.

FARM RELIEF ADVOCATES IN LOSING BATTLE

President Coolidge's veto of the McNary-Haugen bill. La Follette good naturedly thanked his audience for the "applause, rare for a Wisconsin representative," but said he did not agree with its purpose. His good humor won his listeners.

Supp. led by 15 States. After reading his plank, La Follette declared the minority report had been supported by 15 states in the resolutions committee. "A paramount question before the American people," he said, "and before this convention, is to provide sound and permanent means for a future national policy for agriculture."

"I came to this convention with the sincere conviction that the success of the Republican party in November depends on the manner in which we face this issue—both in selection of our standard bearer and the writing of the platform."

La Follette had the galleries with him. On nearly every plank he had some applause.

His corruption plank, stronger than the "regular" platform, seemed to arouse the enthusiasm of the gallery followers.

Thankful for Courtesy. La Follette concluded at noon and moved substitution of his minority report for the majority report. He thanked the audience for its kindly and "courteous reception."

Wisconsin, North Dakota and Texas delegations were on their feet shouting. The La Follette minority report was rejected by an overwhelming viva voce vote.

Nicholas Murray Butler, of New York, sought recognition, but Chairman Moses recognized, instead, Earle Smith, who offered a substitute farm plank.

Smith was applauded wildly in remote corners of the room during his speech, but the convention seemed not vastly interested in his discourse.

Regarded As Threat. Smith delivered what many interpreted as a threat to the party. "If you expect the support of the Republican farmers of the great mid-western states, you are going to face squarely and fairly this issue," he warned.

"We are through with general statement. There is nothing more in the platform reported by the majority of the committee than there was in the 1924 platform. It is just sympathy. We are looking for something definite."

Smith concluded his speech by moving adoption of the minority report and requested a roll.

Representative Frank Murphy, of Illinois, was recognized and thanked the chairman for his courtesy.

He warned his audience "not to make any mistake about it—the farmers are tremendously bitter" over the McNary bill veto.

The McNary-Haugen bill, he said is the issue in this campaign. "That is the issue that you must meet head-on and in a robust way," he shouted while the gallery yelled its approval. "You can't fool the farmer any more with campaign pledges."

Warns of Party Split. "I'm here begging you to be careful in this vote," he said. "This is the rock on which the party will split in 1928 if there is a split."

"Farmers do not believe in Santa Claus and you act as though they did."

This provoked a heavy demonstration from farm delegations. Minnesota, North and South Dakota led the demonstration, standing up, shouting and yelling. The gallery shouted, "Moses sought victory to restore order."

L. Williams Price, of Los Angeles, an attorney, kept pounding away at his following in the gallery. Moses had no luck with his efforts. The cheering continued.

Senator Norbeck, South Dakota, led the South Dakota delegation in another demonstration. One delegate shouted, "He's all right; who's all right?"

The entire delegation answered, "Lowden."

Suddenly Moses spoke up, recognizing Dan Turner, of Corning, Ia., and the outburst subsided as quickly as it had begun. It had been going between three and four minutes.

Turner Gets Floor. Turner took up the farmers' battle with a two-minute speech, explained the failure of the farmers' march to Kansas City by saying the expense was too great and he knew they would not march here.

"But they will march to the polling places in November," he added.

Honor Us With Your Presence

When We Dedicate This Institution to the Car Owners of This Community

THE formal opening of our new sales and service building at 505 South Main Street, Santa Ana, will take place Saturday afternoon and evening, June 16th, 1928.

We want everybody to come. We want you to be our guest on this great day when we dedicate this splendid new building, its modern equipment and its comprehensive stocks to the car owners of Santa Ana and vicinity.

THERE will be no attempt to sell cars or anything else during this time. It will be a house-warming, a get-acquainted festivity, a meeting of all who are interested in motor cars and the things which serve the car and its owners. We want you to see how we have provided for the comfort and convenience of the car owner.

In our salesroom are the latest models of Studebaker and Erskine cars, the sensational values in motordom today.

In our service shop are the most modern tools and equipment—the things which cut cost and increase efficiency in service.

In our parts department there is a complete and well-arranged stock—a tangible assurance that no Studebaker or Erskine car hereabouts need ever be idle for want of an essential part.

In our accessory stocks are all the modern things that serve the comfort and convenience of the motorists.

We will be here, all afternoon and all evening. Our only business will be the pleasure of showing you through.

All who own cars and all who do not, are invited. We want to greet the public of Santa Ana and vicinity on this great day. This is a local institution that we expect to conduct in a fashion that will entitle it to the pride and confidence of all our friends and neighbors.

Come in at any time, stay as long as you can, give us the inspiration of your handshake and your company.

Remember the day—Saturday, June 16th, 1928, afternoon and evening.

Last year when I went north I met a fellow who told me it was much easier to make the second million than the first. Well, I need another inspiration and I am just going out for a week and back that fellow up. He may have told the truth but I've seen some of the fine points of the argument.

CAPT. HAMMER THINKS NOBILE WILL BE SAVED

If members of the Nobile exploration party are still alive, they will be rescued, in the opinion of Captain H. H. Hammer, who was a member of the Amundsen party which attempted for six years to reach the north pole in the Maud.

Capt. Hammer was the speaker yesterday at the meeting of the Santa Ana Kiwanis club, and he brought to his hearers in an entertaining and instructive way intimate details of some of the experiences of the Amundsen party, which started in August, 1918.

Capt. Hammer said that radio and airplanes had eliminated much of the romance in exploration and he asserted that publicity is the big incentive today for many of the exploits that are being made.

The speaker revealed that plans of Amundsen was to get his ship to a point where it would drift with currents across the north pole, and he related how development of the airplane had forced the party to adopt this type of transportation for fear that an explorer using an airplane would reach the pole before the party could reach it in the Maud. It was estimated it would take the Maud six years to get to the pole. Hammer was commissioned to go to Norway and raise money sufficient to buy two airplanes. He was successful. One of the ships was wrecked in Norway and the other was shipped to Spitzbergen, where unsuccessful attempts were made to get to the pole.

The speaker said that the eight members of his party were busy all the time, and that this accounted for the fact that all were as good friends when they returned as when they departed. He asserted that the men in the party preferred seal steaks to the meat of polar bears. He declared that a sun compass developed from the experiences of the Amundsen party had made it possible for Byrd and Nobile to be as successful as they have been in their flights to the pole.

J. E. Gowen officiated as program chairman and he introduced Robert Brown in a group of songs, the singer being accompanied by Miss Ruth Armstrong.

Police News

C. F. Rathbone Jr., 1472 Maple street, Santa Ana, reported to police last night that his automobile was stolen from in front of his home.

C. L. Beeler, arrested here on April 25, on a charge of possession of liquor, was fined $300 at the time. He served 50 days in the county jail, and yesterday paid the remainder of his fine of $200.

Burglars attempted to enter the home of Dr. John Ball, 2308 Oakmont avenue, late last night, according to a report filed at the city police station. Officers investigated and found where a screen had been removed from a window. A maid in the house reported that a car was seen standing near the house just before noises were heard at the window.

Officer James Murray was called to the Santa Fe tracks late last night to kill a horse believed to have been struck by a train. The animal was suffering with two broken legs when he was killed, police reported.

J. E. Alton, 53, dairyman, residing three miles south of Santa Ana, on Main street, pleaded guilty to a drunk charge before Judge J. F. Talbot yesterday afternoon and was fined $50.

Five persons were given fines in police court yesterday on speeding charges. They were: Irvin Nobler, $5; W. H. Middlebrook, $15; John Valencia, $15; Alex Rudzki, $15; and Lucile Quintana, $10.

John Riddle, charged with being drunk, was given a $50 fine in police court yesterday with an alternate of spending one day in the county jail for every $2 of the fine. He was committed to jail.

MOST OF 1927 WALNUTS SOLD. MANAGER SAYS

In his annual report just issued, Carlyle Thorpe, general manager of the California Walnut Growers' association, announces that 95 per cent of the 1927 record crop of walnuts has been sold, with a return of approximately $2,000,000 more than the high record of the organization.

The manager points out that publicity and extensive sales campaign won over the situation that confronted the association in disposing of a crop 93 per cent larger than the 5 year average and 44 per cent larger than the previous maximum.

"Without advertising we could not have disposed of the crop," said Thorpe. "We spent more than $100,000 in advertising this year's crop. We consider advertising an investment, and though this year's crop will be but about 65 per cent of the 1927 crop and will sell readily, we shall continue to advertise, to maintain the continuity and keep walnuts before the people."

The remaining 5 per cent, Thorpe stated, will be sold before the new crop comes in.

"The growers will get for his 1927 crop more money than they have ever received," the general manager said, "and though the extra money is not all profit—for it cost them more to handle the larger crop—I believe that most of them will receive larger net returns than ever before."

The opening price value of the California crop was $16,500,000, of which the 84 per cent handled by the association had a value of $13,808,741, for 45,095 tons. The previous highest tonnage packed by the association was 24,080 tons, in 1925, and the highest total returns were for the 1919 crop, $11,903,751.

Last year the short crop of 1926 was sold at prices from 40 to 50 cents a pound and, though the crop was all absorbed, consumption fell to half for the normal, and many people came to regard walnuts as too expensive for them.

This year the wholesalers and retailers started out with an expectation of getting the high prices of last year. The association met the problem by inducing them to take the smaller profits on larger sales, and at the same time advertised everywhere the lower prices—from 25 to 35 cents a pound.

SCHOOL PAPER STAFF TO HOLD ANNUAL DINNER

The Generator staff of the Santa Ana high school, numbering 35 members, with student body officials and faculty guests, will gather at 6:30 o'clock tonight at Rose Arbor Inn for the second annual banquet staged by the school paper.

Presentation of the bound Generator files will be a feature of the event. They will be received by John Moffatt, president of the student body, who will present it to Newell Vandermast, president-elect. Fred Humiston, editor-in-chief for the past year, will preside at the banquet. J. A. Cranston, superintendent of schools in Santa Ana, will attend.

Eleanor Turner, former editor of the Generator, planned the first banquet, which was held last year. Arrangements for the program tonight are in charge of Marguerite Taylor.

Why one cooperative sales agency can best serve the Citrus Industry

INEXPERIENCED orange and lemon growers are sometimes told that 2 selling organizations competing with each other in the markets of the world could do a better job than if the entire crop were handled through the California Fruit Growers Exchange.

Let us assume that a second association has been organized and that it has signed up the remaining one-quarter of the crop which the Exchange does not now handle.

Then imagine that you yourself have been sent East to sell fruit for this smaller cooperative. A carload of oranges is scheduled to arrive in your territory within a day or two.

What will be your story when you approach a prospective buyer?

Would it be "BETTER FRUIT"?

No. Buyers well know that Exchange fruit is uniformly dependable. Years of experience have made them skeptical of unknown brands.

Would it be that you have "A BRAND OF FRUIT THAT WOMEN RECOGNIZE"?

No. Buyers will tell you that "Sunkist" is on every housewife's lips. That Sunkist is a byword of the nation.

Would you offer "SERVICE THAT THE EXCHANGE DOES NOT OFFER"?

No. Buyers know that the Exchange, by handling a larger volume of the total crop is better able to supply them fruit throughout the year.

They know that Exchange dealer service men make 75,000 calls on retailers each year, many in their territory.

They know that the Exchange is better able to supply them with reliable market data because it has first hand information on the bulk of the crop covering all districts where the fruit is raised.

WOULD YOU OFFER TO SELL FOR LESS?

No. Because to prove that two cooperatives are necessary you must get more money than the Exchange. Financial return is the only gauge by which your theory can be proved.

WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

You might blame your California office. Perhaps they should have shipped the car to another point. You might wire suggesting the car be diverted to a big population center... an auction market. But your California office would say, "No, our brand has no standing in the large consuming centers." You would be asked to "submit best offer." This you would do and the answer would probably come back, "SELL!"

JOIN THE EXCHANGE

Competition in production, in improving the quality of fruit, packing and handling is an excellent practice. The Exchange employs it constantly.

But competition in selling means longer life for all.

Cooperation in selling, on the other hand, means an evenly distributed crop. It means the securing of the highest prevailing prices in the different markets of America, and abroad. It means a decreased cost of production through cooperative buying in larger quantities. It means a greater or advertising campaign to further increase the average per capita consumption of citrus fruits. It means lower selling cost through larger volume. It means more profit to every grower.

More growers in the Exchange means more money for California citrus fruits.

Talk to the manager of the nearest Exchange Association or District Exchange. Or write for further information to California Fruit Growers Exchange, Box 530, Station "G," Los Angeles, California.

PARK SCENE OF FLAG EXERCISE THIS EVENING

For this purpose.

The American Legion drum corps and Company V of the National guard will lead the organizations in a parade from the city club to the park at 8 o'clock. The program will be a half hour concert preceding the flag exercise.

Veterans organizations and allied orders of the Civil war, Spanish war, and Disabled American Veterans of the World war will lead a reserved section to which ushers will conduct them until 8 p. m. Those in these groups who do not march in the parade will be recognized by the ushers and given places with their organizations if they wear their badges or other distinguishing emblems. It was announced today by C. L. Steeper and R. E. Kolbe, who are co-operating with the various bodies in making the affair a success. This arrangement has been made in order to show respect for those who have served their country.

A large gathering is expected and it was suggested that those who have camp chairs should bring them.

Santa Ana lodge No. 784 B. P. O. Elks will present its ritualistic flag day services during the program. This body, with Santa Ana Post No. 121, American Legion, is sponsoring the demonstration.

Cities of southern Orange county will join tonight in a spontaneous demonstration of respect for the American flag when the first community flag day ceremony begins at 8 o'clock in Birch park. The program represents the combined effort and planning of over 40 patriotic organizations, civic bodies and service clubs in the towns participating.

Superior Judge E. J. Marks will deliver the flag day address. The Santa Ana municipal band and the American Legion auxiliary glee club will be featured in musical numbers.

A special ceremony has been arranged in which all patriotic organizations will join in presentation of flags and banners. A unique tribute to the flag will take place when historic colors appearing in America as far back as 1497 will be displayed. The band will play appropriate music arranged by D. C. Clanton, director.

PIONEER MERCHANT RETIRES FROM ACTIVE BUSINESS HERE

BY HORACE NISBET

F. P. Nickey, who may well claim to be a pioneer of pioneers in the business world of Santa Ana, has sold his holdings in the F. P. Nickey Hardware company to E. B. Trago, a son-in-law, who has been identified with the business enterprise for many years.

He will no longer take part in the mercantile activities of the city and surely his many years of constant endeavor and honest hard work as a business man in this city would seem to entitle him to the rest and vacation he proposes for himself.

Forty-one years ago the F. P. Nickey Hardware company was established in Santa Ana and during all that time F. P. Nickey has controlled the destinies of the company, which, under his direction and ownership, became one of the best known in the county or indeed in Southern California.

As a matter of fact Mr. Nickey has the distinction of being the pioneer hardware dealer of Southern California, for he has been on the job 41 years in Santa Ana, with 18 years previous experience.

A long vista of years to look back upon, and F. P. Nickey can do it with the knowledge that his business success and he has had it in no small measure—was brought about by fair and honest dealing and good hard work.

His interests in the F. P. Nickey

Hardware company have been bought by E. B. Trago, a son-in-law, who for many years has been connected with the enterprise and has done his full share of work to make it a success.

F. P. Nickey should not be permitted to retire from the ranks of Santa Ana's active business men without a tribute being paid to the sterling honesty and fair dealing which have characterized his long business career. The same tribute can be paid his political record, for it is one of which he may well be proud.

For a period of eight years, beginning in 1920, he was a member of the Orange county board of supervisors and was during all that time chairman of that body. As Mr. Nickey is not, and has no intention of being a candidate for office, his success along political lines will not be dwelt upon. Suffice it to say that F. P. Nickey was a capable, efficient and honest public official.

The Register is very glad indeed to be able authoritatively to state that Mr. Nickey will continue to make his home here in Santa Ana among the people who have known and respected him so many years and, further, that in the hale old age which is his, he can enjoy life under his own vine and fig tree with a modest competence sufficient for his needs.

TALBERT

TALBERT, June 14.—Members of the Boy Scout troop of Talbert and the Scoutmaster, J. J. Wodson are attending this evening the rally of the Scouts of the county at Anaheim.

Announcement is made of regular Sunday school, Epworth league and church services for Talbert Methodist church south, of Talbert and of Greenville church on next Sunday. The tent meetings in the two Santa Ana, during which the two churches closed, closed last Sunday evening.

Sunday school at Talbert will be held at 9:30 o'clock, Epworth League service at 6:30 o'clock and preaching services at 7:30 o'clock. The Rev. John Allen, of San Gabriel, is expected to be at the Talbert and Greenville churches next Sunday.

The sudden death of Mrs. Samuel Glaser Monday morning came as a shock to her many relatives and friends in Talbert, where she lived at one time. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harper, son-in-law and daughter, and their children, were with the mother Sunday.

Members of the "Princess" society of Japanese school girls entertained their parents at a formal Japanese dinner Sunday evening at the Japanese school house with 20 present. Later in the evening a large company of Japanese gathered to enjoy the film shown of places of interest throughout the world, the picture being given through the courtesy of Mr. Nakashima, a Japanese who has just returned from a trip around the world. He gave an interesting talk of China in connection with a part of the picture.

Miss Helen Ban was absent from high school Monday as the result of having the influenza.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Brady and family, of Hollywood, were Sunday visitors in the home of Mr. Brady's brother and sister-in-law, and Mrs. Ben Rogers, and Mr. and Mrs. John Pettitt, brother-in-law and sister of Mrs. Rogers, also were visiting relatives in the community that day.

John Pope, Miss M. Smith and S. T. Talbert attended the tent meetings in South Santa Ana Sunday evening.

Mrs. Walter Glaser is spending a week or two in Los Angeles, where she is visiting an aunt while convalescing from a recent operation for appendicitis.

Mrs. Henry Lacabanne entertained as guests recently, Mrs. Herman Lemke and daughter, of Orange.

ASKS CALIFORNIANS TO EAT STATE RICE

SACRAMENTO, June 14.—Unless California people eat more California-grown rice, thousands of men may again be thrown out of employment this year.

This warning is sounded by State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson, one of the largest individual rice growers in California. He says that the annual surplus of rice, 20,000 pounds, is approximately the same as the amount shipped into California from Japan, China and the Southern states.

"Thousands are employed by the rice industry," said Johnson. "Since rice produced in California has a preferred market throughout the world, it is hoped that our people will aid in moving the surplus."

More than 5000 pounds of rice were distributed by mills during the recent "California Rice day" campaign in Sacramento.

HUNTINGTON BEACH

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 14.—Mrs. Nathaniel Buck and daughter, Gretchen, of Brighton, Iowa, arrived in Huntington Beach yesterday to spend the summer with Mr. and Mrs. Harvey S. Young. Mrs. Buck is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Young.

Miss Islay Rogers, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. S. J. Rogers, is leaving Friday for a trip through Europe. Miss Rogers will be accompanied by six teachers of the Alhambra public schools, where she is supervisor of music. They will motor through England, Scotland, Belgium, France and Italy.

Miss Edna Hearn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hearn, formerly of this city and now of the University of California at Los Angeles.

Ben Patton, J. W. Mitchell, J. K. Sargent, Gale Bergey and Merwin Rosson were in Santa Ana Tuesday in connection with the action taken against J. E. Hall by Lewis Bingle. The home of Mr. Bingle on Twelfth street was burned several months ago when a tank of oil located on a lease owned by Hall caught fire. Bingle is attempting to recover for his losses over and above the insurance which he collected on the place.

Miss Ruth Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Mitchell, is home from the University of California at Los Angeles.

Clem Cole, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Cole, arrived yesterday from Notre Dame, where he has been attending college the past year. He was in a party of four that drove through by auto.

Clean Child's Bowels with
"California Fig Syrup"

Even if cross, feverish, bilious, constipated or full of cold, children love the pleasant taste of "California Fig Syrup." A teaspoonful never fails to clean the liver and bowels. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.—Adv.

One
Root Duster

With the above combination you can dust as high as 35 acres of peppers, or similar row crops, in one day.

Mr. A. B. Haven, of the Haven Seed Company, who has three of these wonderful machines, says so. Mr. Haven also says—"By their use we were able to secure application of dust to the crop at the right time on account of the large acreage we could cover daily, and the work is more thoroughly done than with any other machine we have ever had experience with."

The ROOT DUSTER is built "like a watch" of the very best materials; and will last indefinitely. It will solve your dusting problem on field crops. Drop in the store and look them over.

Athlone To Keep Post In Africa

LONDON, June 14.—The Earl of Athlone is expected to continue for a second term as governor-general of South Africa, according to political leaders here. It is understood that the Earl is particularly acceptable because of the popularity of his wife, Princess Alice.

Ove nCure Kills Rheumatic Baker

MILAN, June 14.—Angelo Gavalieri, baker, of Canneto Pavese near Pavia, after having finished baking the day's bread, got into his own oven, not with the idea of committing suicide, but as a cure for his rheumatism.

Having been recommended heat and hot applications by both his own doctor and his friends, Gavalieri, not content with hot packs, decided on a more radical cure.

He did not remain in the oven long enough to give the new cure a chance, for after a minute or two he uttered a shriek of pain and was pulled out by his assistant half-conscious and covered with burns. Taken to the hospital he died soon afterwards.

POLICE CAR AIDS AVIATOR-SPEAKER

Arriving in Santa Ana by airplane to speak at the regular monthly meeting of the Santa Ana Clinical society, Dr. R. W. Langley, of Los Angeles, with his pilot, hovered in darkness over the Eddie Martin air field for half an hour last night, before a police car, hearing the plane, drove in to make an investigation and in this way furnished light for a landing.

Dr. Langley spoke before members of the society on "Pathology." Other speakers at the meeting were Dr. R. Manning Clarke, of Los Angeles, who gave a talk on heart disease, and Dr. Dexter Ball, of this city, who spoke on "Symptoms of Heart Disease."

The meeting was held at the Methodist church at Eighth and Artesia streets and was preceded by a southern style chicken dinner. A group of negro spirituals was sung by members of the church. Solo and duet numbers were included in the informal musical program.

GERMAN PLANE TO TRY FOR RECORDS

CASSEL, Germany, June 14.—New records for speed and rate of climb are expected to be established shortly by an airplane now under construction and which will be operated by a rocket device similar in many respects to that used in the recent tests on the rocket-propelled Opel automobile in Germany.

The new machine, which will weigh only 500 pounds including the rocket device, is being built at the Raab, Katzenstein airplane works and will be tested by Anton Raab, chief pilot of the company. The rockets will be attached to the wings of the airplane close to the fuselage. Its designers are not yet predicting what speed the new machine will make, but they estimate they expect that for a short distance, at any rate, until the rocket burns out, the airplane will attain a tremendous velocity.

SMELTZER

SMELTZER, June 14.—Mrs. Elmer Turner and daughter, Patricia, and son, Jack Turner, of Los Angeles, spent Sunday evening as guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. Ray Moore and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parr and family and their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Haas and family, of Yorba Linda, and Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Baxter and daughters, of Westminster, spent Saturday evening at Orange County park, where they enjoyed a steak bake.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester E. Barry and son, George Barry, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parr and family were among Smeltzer people who attended the high school services at Huntington Beach Sunday evening.

Miss Ella Murdy returned Sunday evening from Los Angeles, where she spent several days with her niece, Miss Iola Murdy, who had been a visitor in the Murdy home here, Miss Ella having accompanied her home.

Heals Eczema

In 7 Days or Less

Here's a surgeon's wonderful prescription now dispensed by pharmacists at trifling cost, that will do more towards helping you get rid of unsightly spots and skin diseases than anything you've ever tried.

Not only does this great healing antiseptic oil promote rapid and healthy healing in open sores and wounds, but boils, abscesses and ulcers that are discharging are almost immediately relieved and cleanly healed.

In skin diseases its action is little less than magical. The itching of eczema is instantly soothed; the eruptions dry up and scale off in a very few days. The same is true of barber's itch, salt rheum and other irritating and unsightly skin troubles. You can obtain Moore's Emerald Oil in the original bottle at any modern drug store. It is safe to use, and failure in any of the ailments noted above is next to impossible. Santa Ana Drug Co. and R. C. Kelley.—Adv.

Mrs. J. A. Murdy entertained the monthly society in her home Wednesday. Sewing occupied the morning, there was a potluck dinner at noon and a program occupied the afternoon hours.

RILEY ARRANGES AGENCY OPENING

Harry D. Riley today had completed arrangements for the formal opening of his new Studebaker agency quarters at the corner of South Main and Camille streets, Saturday afternoon and evening.

Riley is extending an invitation to the general public to drop in during the afternoon or evening and look over his new establishment.

"I am sure the public will be interested in inspecting this new institution dedicated to the service of those who own and expect to own cars in Santa Ana, for it includes all that is modern in motordom and marks a step forward in the commercial life of Santa Ana," Riley said today, in commenting on the new building, which represents an investment of $75,000, including the lot value. He added that the new building and its complete equipment express his faith in Santa Ana.

SWIMMING TO BE TAUGHT IN Y. M. C. A. CLASS

Special swimming instruction for small boys is promised at the Y. M. C. A. as a vacation service in response to a popular demand. Beginning next Wednesday morn-

The classes will be given on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday mornings of next week, and on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday mornings of the following week. The last session will be Thursday, June 14.

R. H. Russell, physical director, will conduct the classes, which will be held each morning at 9:00 o'clock. On the basis of past experience, he expects that most of the boys will be able to swim short distances before the end of the course.

In order to enroll in the course, Russell states that a boy should be at least three feet, eight inches tall in his bare feet.

The class will be limited to 25 boys. A small fee is charged for the course. If there is a demand for accommodations for more than the 25, another class will be given later on.

Reservations for the class, and inquiries about it should be made at the Y. M. C. A. office promptly, as indications point to a full enrollment for the work, Smedley said.

Plan Boy's Tests For Sun Tribes

WAYNE, Calif., June 14.—A new among the Sun Indians of the Southwestern United States will be conducted from July to September by Dr. Forrest E. Clement, University of California anthropologist.

Mental tests will be given to the Sun tribesmen and an attempt will be made to develop a statistical method of handling ethnological facts pertaining to the races of the world.

The California savant will develop an intelligence test based on aboriginal culture rather than on standards of white people, university authorities said. Sun Indians were selected for the work because they include part of the highest aboriginal cultural centers in North America.

Devise Means To Delay Ripening Of Storage Fruit

BERKELEY, June 14.—Research method to decrease storage ripening of fruit has been devised by scientists at the University of California agricultural college here.

An abundance of carbon dioxide decreases the rate of ripening, according to Dr. E. L. Overholser, who has been conducting experiments on the problem. This assumption, he said, is based on the principle that fruits breathe in oxygen and discharge carbon dioxide, much the same as animal organisms do.

Artificially increasing the amount of carbon dioxide should prevent the ripening in storage houses, Overholser believes. While still in the experimental stage, the new system has possibilities, the scientist said.

21 BOYS LEARN ART OF COOKING IN S. A. SCHOOL

Twenty-one young boys of the Julia Lathrop high school have no fear of going without home-cooked meals, no matter what attitude the women of the future may take in regard to cooking, for these boys can cook—and incidentally, they like to do it.

The boys are members of the only boys' cooking class in the city schools and so far as known, one of the two cooking classes for boys that has ever existed in the schools, according to Mrs. Ethel Sinke, who has guided the lads during the past semester in the correct way to manipulate an egg beater and a potato masher.

Mrs. Sinke took the boys, nearly all of whom are in the low seventh grade, under her guidance when no room could be made for them in the manual training classes. Since the enthusiastic reports of these youngsters, dozens of other lads have been clamoring to be taught to cook.

Boys taking the course can cook a creditable meal from soup to cup cakes or cookies, says Mrs. Sinke. All those enrolled are very much interested in the mysteries of cooking, she says. During work hours the entire class is uniformed in white aprons and white caps similar to those worn by chefs.

S. F. College Aids In Cancer Battle

SAN FRANCISCO, June 14.—Facilities of the San Francisco College of Electronic Medicine have been placed at the disposal of the United States Public Health service to aid in curing cancer in the United States.

In offering the services of the college, Dr. W. H. Seymour, president, said he desired to coordinate the efforts of medical organizations throughout the country to eradicate the disease.

Church Ad Uses Saloon As Lure

CALLOW, Hertfordshire, June 14.—Parking spaces for automobiles and provision of a saloon were offered as inducements to attend church by the pastor here.

The Rev. A. Mauby Lloyd, who is a cousin of Lord Lloyd, High Commissioner of Egypt, had an advertisement inserted in local newspapers which read as follows:

"To motorists.—Callow, on the Ross road, a fine objective for Sunday evenings. Plenty of parking room. Half a mile from the Angel."

—A. Mauby Lloyd.

The "Angel" mentioned is a well-known saloon to motorists.

The pastor explained that he did it with the hope of increasing his Sunday evening congregations.

THE PLATE GLASS TEST. This glass is pressed against a Silvertown tread to illustrate the important facts explained below.

Here's why Silvertowns deliver remarkable new mileage!

Inside a balloon tire, there's a pressure of 30 to 40 pounds.

Against this is an outside pressure of several hundred pounds, or more than a thousand, where the tread meets the road. Something has to give—in a hurry—when that tire speeds along at thirty miles an hour.

Now look back at the picture. Let your eye follow those three deep grooves in the tread center. See how they come together against the ground—easily—smoothly—without distortion or "piling up."

There's the reason the Silvertowns we sell are rolling out new mileage records on many of our customers' cars.

Drop in and see us, and you will like our courteous service as well as you like our tires.

IN BASEBALL'S LIMELIGHT

Here are two American league ball players you have been reading about. One the left is Lou Fonseca, the only Portuguese in the big time. He beat George Burns out of his job at first base for Cleveland. On the right is Al Shealey, one of the prize pitching rookies of the season. He is with the Yankees. They plucked him from the St. Paul club of the American association.

U. S. NAVY OFFICER SOLVED FOOD PROBLEM FOR YANKEES AT OLYMPIC GAMES OF 1920

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(NEA Service Sports Writer)

THE fuss the Olympic athletes raised when they arrived in Antwerp in 1920 and found what kind of living accommodations had been made for them was mild compared to the roar that arose when they went down to the courtyard of the schoolhouse for their first breakfast.

The night had been one too hot for them to sleep. They were doing and already were guilty of gross dereliction of duty and negligence. He said he had stepped in and would continue to assist if he could be assured of full authority.

"Gentlemen," he said. "The newspapermen with the party are aware of the situation and I have persuaded them to overlook what has happened and give the committee a chance to get down to business. If the committee does not care to do it and will not permit me to do what I consider is a duty I not only will ask the newspapermen to give the case the widest publicity but I will give them a complete story of everything that has happened over my signature."

His Name Carries Authority
"And regardless of how you treat me, I am in an official position as the representative of the navy and I am not concerned when I say that a signed statement of mine will give the newspapermen the proper authority for any kind of a story they care to write."

This statement knocked off the brass hats and they jumped at the chance to get some efficient assistance and from that time on the accommodations were the best that could be provided under the circumstances. And the entire credit belonged to Commander Mayo.

In this connection it promises some of the same kind of efficiency to know that General McArthur will be in general charge of the 1928 team as military men of high rank are all trained executives.

This is the sixth of a series of articles by Henry L. Farrell, NEA Service Sports Writer, discussing the chances of the United States team in the coming Olympic track and field games. In this series of articles, tells of the mismanagement of the teams in 1920 and 1924. This is the first time this angle of the Olympic games has ever been told in newspaper publication. — Sport Editor's note.

There were no officials around to take charge or offer any remedy and a most serious situation was arising when Commander Claude Mayo, of the U. S. Navy, who had come to Antwerp with the navy contingent on the S. S. Frederic, assumed charge.

U. S. Supplies Requested
He went to army headquarters and on his own responsibility requested sufficient supplies from the quartermaster to feed the athletes for several days. He secured good old U. S. rations—meat, canned milk, bacon, eggs, corn, canned fruits and vegetables—and the insurrection abated when the boys filled up on good groceries. They were all for Commander Mayo but they were still highly incensed at the "white collars" who were joy riding in Paris on what some of the radicals among the agitators thought was committee money.

Some of the brass hats came back to Antwerp and what had happened drew a great wrath upon the committee. They were going to visit the athletes. They were going to see who was running the show.

Some of the brass hats suggested that they should go to the athletes and see who was running the show. They were going to see who was running the show.

Icemen Retain Lead In Night League

HEARD DEFEATS 'TEX' BERGMAN IN 1-0 BATTLE

Seidel Submariner Allows Only Four Safeties But Bunched Ones Are Fatal

Triumphant for the third consecutive week, the Santa Ana Ice company maintained possession of first place in the Santa Ana Night Baseball league by winning a sensational pitcher's battle from Seidel's market, 1 to 0, at the Bowl last evening.

In his other games, Jerry Heard, captain and southpaw gunner of the Icemen, was batted quite hard and was saved by his hard-hitting mates but no asparagus could be thrown at his work against the Butchers whom he let down with six scattered singles. Jay Bergman, the Seidel deceiver, was just as tight as a drum himself. He retired the league leaders with four blows but two of them came in one frame and they meant a run, the first, last and only one of the hectic duel.

This Ice company tally was scored by Blanchard Beatty, the junior college outfielder, who led off in his side's half of the fifth with a double to left. J. Heard singled him to third. Spencer bounced a slow roller to Bowe. The Seidel second sacker, and Beatty scored while Spencer was being retired at first. Urbine raised a high fly back of first base which Shirley gobbled and converted into a double killing when J. Heard attempted to sneak in from third after the catch.

The Butchers had one golden opportunity but Heard proved equal to the occasion and got out of the jam without a run. After two were away in the sixth, Middlebrook was safe on Brown's error. W. Sullivan singled to center, loading the pathways, but Shirley lifted a long fly to center which B. Beatty converted into a third out.

This week's round of City league games will be concluded tonight with a brush between the Icemen and the Butchers.

Pete Latso In Line For Title Bouts

BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 14.—Pete Latso, former welterweight champion, is in a position to demand title bouts with two champions—Mickey Walker, middleweight titleholder, and Tommy Loughran, 175-pound king.

After five rounds of terrible battling before 15,000 persons at Ebbets field last night, Latso was fouled by Leo Lomski, Aberdeen, Wash., in the sixth round and was awarded the victory.

Out in front on points and carrying the battle to Lomski, Latso was making way for one of the big surprises of the fight season, when Lomski brought up a right from the floor which landed six inches low.

MIKE DOLL IS OUTCLASSED BY TERRY AT BARN

By RINGSIDER

Mike Doll couldn't and Young Terry wouldn't and so last night's main event at the Delhi "amateur" back-busting barn was terrible.

Terry won, officially, by a knockout in the fourth round. He should have won in the first because Doll, who was almost as helpless as his name might indicate, sloped around the hempen square with nothing but his bulk to protect him. But Terry couldn't, or maybe just wouldn't, and so the atrocious attraction kept the customers there longer than was necessary.

Boyd Ellis, the creator of Delhi, can leave Doll off his cards from now on. Nobody is going to miss Terry much either. They are nice, venerable old chaps but off their showing last night they look to be washed up pugilistically.

Gilbert Steps Thomas
As usual, the semi-final was much superior to the alleged main event. Jack Gilbert scored a technical knockout over Richie Thomas in the third after having all the better of it from the first. Thomas was on the floor twice in the opening round, made a brave showing in the second only to go down under a pile of flaccid pyrotechnics in the third. He claimed a foul but it was disallowed.

Young Morris, the sensational Santa Ana, came up with a severe cold and doctor's orders not to fight, and missed a fine chance to score another quick knockout. They showed in "Baby Face" Johnny Nandes against Al Gaster, whom Morris was to have boxed, and Nandes annihilated Gaster in less than two minutes. Gaster didn't look to have anything.

Schultz Beats Jack Terry
Julius Schultz, forcing the fight, got a questionable verdict over Jack Terry in a mill that was worth watching.

Young Ray, Santa Ana garbage man, whipped Lucky Baldwin on points. Their contest was devoid of much action.

In one of those typical slugging preliminaries, Frank Munas stopped George Soto in the third. Munas was on the floor at the end of the first but dropped Soto twice in the second and stowed him away early in the third.

Young Firpo and Young Wills, 55-pounders, put on a curtain-raiser for no reason at all. Somebody said it was a draw.

Young Harry Wills Loses Go On Foul

OAKLAND, June 14.—Pete Myers, whose winning streak in bay region rings dates back several months, set out last night to make short work of Young Harry Wills, San Diego fighter. Wills was in distress by the second round and the referee gave Myers the decision when the Negro fouled several times.

HE PROVES BOOM TO BRAVES

Waived out of the American league and saved from the minors by a friendly hand from an unexpected quarter, George Sisler is attracting national attention by the fine game he is playing on first base for the Boston Braves.

Four years ago Sisler was one of the most valuable players in baseball. He could not have been bought for a quarter of a million dollars, but at the height of his career he was stricken with sinus trouble and his career was almost ended.

Last winter the Washington Senators bought him from the St. Louis Browns for a song and he was slated for a regular job, but he was benched and waivers were asked upon him. He was on his way out of the major leagues when he happened to meet Rogers Hornsby. He told Hornsby he felt sure he had a lot of baseball in him.

Hornsby was then made manager of the Braves and his first act was to claim Sisler and put him to work. Sisler may not make a pennant winner out of the Braves, but he has improved the club and Hornsby is improving it with other wise trades.

28 SAINTS GET COURTHOUSE IS FOOTBALL TOLL CONQUEROR OF HONOR AWARDS SHELL OILERS

Twenty-eight Santa Ana high school football players showed unusual faithfulness to their squad during the spring football season just closed and have been rewarded with special honor pins, Coach "Tex" Oliver announced today.

The awards, handsome little gold-finished presents from the Junior chamber of commerce which wanted to encourage participation in the seasons, were given not for any particular excellence of play on the field but for the loyalty in remaining out for work throughout the spring drill.

These boys obtained valuable experience and training during the period and will have the advantage on their teammates when practice begins in the fall term.

Players receiving the honor pins were Captain-Elect Roger Hoar, Fletcher Buxton, Harry Clayton, William Dangler, Tom Donahue, Warren Dubois, Gerald Goodrich, James Hall, Charles Harris, Kiyoshi Higashi, Harmon Howard, John Keeler, Chandler Kerr, Don McLaughlin, Gilbert Melinger, Mack Miller, Harold Melinger, Reed Rachen, Alvin Rebois, Jack Rimeel, Clarence Speer, Clarence Spencer, Bruce Tarver, Neil Thornhill, Roderick Weichlein, Lawrence Woodhouse and Curtis Yonel.

Memorials Stop Spurt Of Baptists

Spurgeon Memorial church, South Methodist, cut the First Baptists down to its size baselically last night when it broke the winning streak of the Main street churchmen, 15 to 11, in the Church Playground league game at the Y. M. C. A. This was the first defeat for the Baptists.

Jones and Danel, for the South Methodists, and Clingenberg and Minter, for the Baptists, were the batteries. League standings follow:

SPORT WRITERS SAIL WITH TEX TO SEE HEENEY

By FRANK GETTY
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, June 14.—Just to show that all the Rits is not in the one corner of the heavyweight ring, Tex Rickard is throwing a yachting party for some of us today.

The destination of the "Maxine" is Fairhaven, N. J., where Tom Heenev threatens to desert his rocking chair for active training at any moment.

Palatial yachts and snooty lawn parties were part of the picture when "Gorgeous George" Carpenier was training to fight for the heavyweight championship seven years ago. Luis Angel Firpo didn't rate them, for the South American, much to Rickard's sorrow, proved too uncouth for the original six hundred millionaires.

Gene Tunney restored the social level as a challenger.

Now we come to Tom Heenev, or rather we sail to him aboard the good ship "Maxine," the yacht purchased by Tex Rickard in Florida last winter.

The New Zealander must be a trifle flustered at receiving a visit from a yachting party. It is difficult to picture that wrinkled skin beneath an admiral's cap.

The yacht in question will sail down the coast to Fairhaven this afternoon and the tooting of its whistles will be a signal for unwelcome activity at the Ruman Farm kennels, where Heenev's training camp is located.

The challenger is expected to ease his built out of his favorite rocker into a pair of tight, for the first actual work he has done in preparation for the forthcoming heavyweight championship fight.

WOMEN TENNIS STARS VIE FOR FAMED TROPHY

Helen Wills Conceded Two Victories But U. S. Not At All Sure of Others

WIMBLEDON, June 14.—The annual battle between the lawn tennis women stars of the United States and those of Great Britain, for the possession of the Wightman cup, will begin tomorrow.

The two-day match, to be played on the courts of the famous All-England club, is the sixth of its kind, the United States having won the cup three times and Britain twice since the competition was inaugurated in 1923.

On the first occasion the United States women, playing on their home courts at Forest Hills administered a sound thrashing to the Britishers, taking the cup with seven matches to none. The following year Britain turned the tide at Wimbledon by winning six to one, and successfully defended the Trophy at Forest Hills in 1925 with a four to three victory.

This was the score by which America regained the cup at Wimbledon in 1926, and, with their five to two victory last year, the Americans came to Wimbledon as the holders of the trophy.

With Helen Wills on the team, the United States can be virtually certain of at least two victories, for in spite of the great improvement shown by several of the British women this year, it is very doubtful if any of them has yet reached the standard necessary to take two sets from the demure Helen.

Two British women who are, perhaps, capable of getting somewhere near this form are Mrs. M. Watson and Miss Ellen Bennett. Both these players have been very prominent in tournament competition this year. Mrs. Watson possesses a wonderful knowledge of court craft, and among her recent victims in the famous Anglo-American, Miss Elizabeth Ryan, whom she defeated at Feltztown in two sets.

Betty Nuthall, whose rapid ascent to the peak of tennis fame has been somewhat checked, is gradually mastering her new overhead service. The change from the underhand caused her to lose some of the control of her strokes, but recent victories indicate that she may well prove a useful member of the British team.

The play of Helen Wills, Fenselove Anderson, and Mrs. Mallory since their arrival in Europe has been keenly watched by the authorities responsible for the selection of the British team, and officials here believe that Britain stands an even chance of regaining the Wightman cup by the odd match in the seven.

ORANGE COUNTY RESIDENTS AID FUND OF U. S. C.

Alumni of the University of Southern California from Anaheim, La Habra and Santa Ana are included among the 1930 persons whose names appear on the alumni "honor roll" of those who have contributed to the university's semi-centennial fund during the first year of its existence. Of the one million dollars so far contributed to this fund, $500,000 have been subscribed by these 1930 alumni. The ultimate purpose of this semi-centennial fund campaign is the raising of $10,000,000 by 1930, when the university will celebrate its 50th anniversary. This fund is to make possible the erection of a number of new buildings and the addition of new endowments of the university.

Among those listed on the "honor roll" are C. George Heston, Kate E. McCullah, Mrs. John Poyet, Faye Kern Schultz, Carrie M. Sharp, Mrs. Lawrence Sutherland, Marian Fisher Tedrick, Anaheim; Mrs. Della C. Hodson, R. N. Hodson, La Habra; and Althea Leonardson, Santa Ana.

WINTERSBURG

WINTERSBURG, June 14.—Mrs. Crenshaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Thibault, who for months has been ill at their home, is recovering from a relapse which she suffered the latter part of the week.

W. W. Vanduff and his brother, who to his home guest from Colorado, and W. W. Blaylock attended church services Sunday at Orange.

The condition of Mrs. Laura Horton, who suffered a stroke at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. W. Blaylock, last Friday, is somewhat improved at present. Mrs. Blaylock, who returned recently from the Orange County hospital, is improved and now able to sit up a part of the time.

Mrs. W. F. Slater has received word that her brother-in-law, Vernon Lansing, of Riverside, is ill with scarlet fever and the family is under quarantine as a result. Mrs. E. M. Fox, who last week was forced to resume the plaster paris cast which had been discarded following the supposed healing of her broken left leg, will be compelled to remain in bed a month according to order of the attending physician.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McIntosh and family spent the week end camping in the mountains.

Leo Steck, who has been visiting in Astoria with his cousin, Louis Steck, who is spending some months on his claim there, returned Tuesday to the home of his uncle, Albert Steck, accompanied by Mrs. Steck's sister, Mrs. Laura Silson and niece, Alvin Hunter, of Colton. The party motored here for Leo Steck's mother, Mrs. George Steck, and his small son, who have been visiting their relatives.

Fred Slater was out of high school Monday, ill with influenza. Sunday guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Treese included Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Soule, of Wilmington; P. Lightman, of Los Angeles, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Yagor, of this place.

Mr. and Mrs. James Greer and daughter, Phyllis, accompanied by Mrs. Greer's sister, were dinner guests Tuesday of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McIntosh. The visitors live in Los Angeles.

David Gardner is quite ill with influenza and his daughter, Miss Geraldine Gardner, who has been confined to her bed for several months while under a physician's treatment, also was ill for several days.

Mrs. A. Stefanski attended the commencement exercises at the Springdale school, her grandson, Wilbur Buck, being one of the graduates.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Coker and family, of San Juan Capistrano, were visitors Sunday in the home of Mr. Woods' mother, Mrs. Henry Friend.

W. C. Jordan, of Santa Ana, was a Sunday guest of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Slater.

Four members of the family of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Vanduff are graduating this term. The first of the exercises to be attended was that of their son-in-law, Perry Hurst, who on last Saturday afternoon received his diploma from the dental college of the University of Southern California.

Wednesday evening of this week, Miss Alma Vanduff graduated from the Huntington Beach high school; this evening, Miss Opal Vanduff is a member of the commencement class of the Santa Ana Junior college, and on Friday evening, Raymond Vanduff, a son, graduates from the University of California, of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Francis Blaylock Lacy, of Long Beach, spent two days recently in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Blaylock. Charles Blaylock, of Wilmington, was a week end visitor at home.

The Rev. Joseph Pope, pastor of the Wintersburg Methodist church, offered the invocation at the baccalaureate program at the Huntington Beach high school Sunday evening.

Miss Ruth Friend, Miss Juliette Blaylock, Mrs. Frances Lacy, Miss Eszta Nichols, David Gardner and William and Wallace Blaylock attended the services at the high school Sunday evening. Miss Blaylock and Miss Nichols this week completed a post graduate course at the school.

Mrs. C. E. Loop and daughter, Norma Lee Loop, were in Huntington Beach Monday evening attending a farewell party given at the home of Mrs. Loop's brother, George Arthur, who with his family and Mr. and Mrs. Steuvenil, were leaving Tuesday morning for a vacation motor trip to their former home in Missouri.

Children's day was observed Sunday morning at the Wintersburg Methodist church with an appropriate program which was supervised by Mrs. W. F. Slater, superintendent of the Sunday school; Mrs. Sherman Buck and Mrs. Raymond Beem.

Following was the program: Prayer, Rev. Joseph Pope; recitation, Opal De Buck; recitation, Dwight Wentzel; exercise, beginners' class; songs, congregation; recitation, Betty Jean Beem; recitation, Laddie Letson; exercise, Mildred Ruoff; Geraldine Houser and Vivian Lipscomb; recitation, Alice Slater; recitation, Alvin Graham; exercise, beginners' class; song, congregation; recitation, Mildred Ruoff; recitation, Dorothy Murdy; recitation, Takiyuki Tashima; piano solo, Loraine Pope; recitation, Marjorie Lipscomb; exercise, junior girls; recitation, Noriyuki Tashima; recitation, Joan Pope; recitation, Elsie Kanawyer; piano solo, Miss June Slater; recitation, Verle Cowling.

WESTMINSTER WILL BALLOT ON SCHOOL

WESTMINSTER, June 14.—The bond rally called for Tuesday evening at the Westminster school was largely attended and unanimous vote was given when the opinion of the people was asked on the proposed bond election for the sum of $10,000 for the Westminster school district, to insure a kindergarten and a Mexican school.

R. P. Mitchell, county superintendent of schools, was present and gave a concise outline of present conditions in the local school.

There are 125 Mexican children and 200 American children and as segregation of the group is thought to be the most satisfactory solution of the problem of crowded school, it is planned to build a four room, substantial, building with modern conveniences in the Mexican district south of town, the board planning on the purchase of a small tract of land upon which to locate the new school plant.

Full authority was vested in the trustees of the school to follow out this plan if the new bond election carries, they being authorized to post the notice of election at once, the new election to be held after the expiration of the 30-day advertising period.

A month ago the district had the opportunity to vote bonds for $25,000 but the election reports showed a tie, so the present plans, taken under consideration Tuesday evening, were formulated for the sanction of the voters.

VILLA PARK

VILLA PARK, June 14.—Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Morrow motored to Santa Barbara Tuesday afternoon, returning home Wednesday. They were accompanied on the return trip by Mrs. Jesse Barber and son, Gerald, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Graham. Mrs. Graham and Mrs. Barber will spend a short vacation with Mrs. G. W. Morrow.

Mr. and Mrs. George Carrier and son, Billie; Mrs. Ellen Holdith, Miss Margaret Holdith and Miss Frances Ann Rasch made a trip to Palm Springs Monday to attend the graduation of Miss Gwendolyn Holdith.

Mrs. John Holdith and daughter, Gwendolyn, of Palm Springs, came down Thursday for a visit with relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Deck and son, Homer, spent Sunday at Huntington Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Burdette made a business trip to Los Angeles Friday.

The Modern Priscilla club, of Villa Park, met recently at the home of Mrs. George Holdith in Placentia. Twelve members and their guests were present. Mrs. J. Roy Smith, of Capistrano, a former member of the club, was a guest. Miss Wanda Amie, of Long Beach, and Mrs. Orville Scherick, of Placentia, also were guests.

The Shakespeare club met on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ellen Holdith for an afternoon of study.

Members present were Mrs. E. H. Adams, Mrs. William Bathgate, Mrs. G. E. Bushman, Mrs. Elma Lee, Mrs. J. Montgomery, Miss Margaret Holdith and the hostess, Mrs. Ellen Holdith.

Members present were Miss Elizabeth Lee, Miss Margaret Holdith, Mrs. J. A. Bergen, Mrs. George Carrier, Mrs. Louis De Long, Mrs. W. W. Gardner, Mrs. L. O. Hanselman, Mrs. H. D. Nichols, Mrs. A. E. Hughes, Mrs. W. J. Rasch, Mrs. L. O. Warren and the hostess, Mrs. George Holdith.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. L. A. Warren, on June 20. Mrs. D. H. Nichols and sons, Lawrence Winston and Everett, and Mrs. E. J. Strong and Mrs. John Cassidy, of Orange, left Sunday for Connecticut, where they will spend the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Miller and little granddaughter, Margery Brett, of Los Angeles, were Sunday callers at the home of Mrs. Abbie Lord.

Another smashing record for Cycol Aero Oil! 2695 miles, Los Angeles to New York, in only 23 hours and 50 minutes. That is more than 167 miles per quart of oil; only 1 1/2 pints per hour of flying time! An amazing example of this new oil's

"ENDURANCE BEYOND BELIEF"

At 9 o'clock Monday morning, May 28th, the graceful Lockheed Whirlwind Vega Monoplane roared down the runway and zoomed into the air on its hurtling dash eastward. Piloted by Lieutenant R. C. Moffatt, well-known United States Army flier, and carrying as passengers Mrs. Moffatt and Mrs. Helm, the latter secretary to Allen Lockheed, builder of the plane, the speeding plane maintained an average air speed of 105 miles per hour.

50 minutes actual flying time. Lieut. Moffatt wired in part— "Wish to express appreciation for perfect service of Associated Gasoline and Cycol Aero Oil"—he says. "Very pleased at excellent condition of oil remaining in engine at conclusion of trip."

Here is striking proof of Cycol's amazing endurance. Learn more about it. Try it in your motor. You'll be a friend forevermore to Cycol and to Associated Gasoline.

BOLSA SCHOOL BOND ISSUE IS CARRIED

BOLSA, June 14.—Bolsa district voters Tuesday approved the $1200 bond election for the improvement of the Mexican school. Thirty-five votes were cast, 33 being in favor and two against.

This will create a tax of 40 cents on the $1000 and with the 70 cents already allowed by law the trustees think they can arrange for the remodeling of the Mexican school, adding another room and taking all of the Mexican children from the local school to the school in their own settlement.

The trustees held a meeting to decide on teachers for the coming term and as a result Mrs. Cosner, who has taught the middle grades is to take the place of Mrs. Willoughby as principal. Miss Stoneman takes the classes which Mrs. Cosner has had and Miss Oldfield remains primary teacher.

Mrs. Webb, who has had charge of the Mexican school for several years, remains and another teacher will be employed later to teach the other Mexican department.

New Life Saving Equipment Sought For Laguna Beach

LAGUNA BEACH, June 14.—Members of the life saving squad of the fire department stressed the need of additional equipment and of better facilities for quick response when they met Tuesday night in the fire hall to discuss matters of interest to the department and to practice resuscitation methods.

The offer of Allan Phelps to donate his car on Sunday for use of the inhalator and other first aid equipment was accepted pending acquisition of a car which can be fitted with a stretcher.

Regular practice by the squad, organized several months ago, has made the members proficient in first aid and they have mastered much of the technique. They practice twice each week, devoting several hours to the practice. The work is purely voluntary.

Whether the fire siren should be sounded to call the squad, or whether the telephone should be used to summon each one individually resulted in deciding on the latter method as the siren caused people to get into the street, retarding the speed of the first aid crew in responding.

Slogan Selected By Seal Beach Club

SEAL BEACH, June 14.—"Strength with Service" was the prize winning slogan submitted in the contest conducted by the Woman's Improvement club. The slogans were judged at the meeting Tuesday by Mrs. Elmer Johns, Mrs. George Watts and Mrs. H. A. Condra, of Los Alamitos, and the first prize of $1 was awarded to Mrs. E. W. Reed. Second prize of 50 cents went to Miss Elsie McClelland, who submitted, "Laugh more, worry less, envy none, give your best." Honorable mention was given Mrs. Grace M. Haskell whose slogan read "Find yourself, the others simply find you."

Mrs. J. R. Watts accompanied the other representatives from Los Alamitos and an invitation was extended by the visiting group to the Seal Beach club to join with them as hostesses in a reciprocity meeting to be held in the Los Alamitos club rooms in October.

The Seal Beach club will hold two more meetings in June and then disband for the summer vacation. Hostesses on these occasions will be Mrs. E. W. Reed and Mrs. Joe Stewart, June 18, and Mrs. A. W. Armstrong and Mrs. Grace M. Haskell, June 26.

OBSERVE BIRTHDAY OF BOLSA RESIDENT

BOLSA, June 14.—A delightful family reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Howard recently, the incentive for the gathering being the 75th birthday anniversary of Mr. Howard.

Mr. Howard's daughter, Mrs. Stella Farnsworth, planned the birthday party unknown to the honoree.

Two grandsons of Mr. Howard are always included as co-honorees with Mr. Howard, their birthdays falling within a day or so of his. This year but one, Johnnie Howard, could participate in the festivities, the other, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Howard, of Escondido, not being present on account of the family being under quarantine for diphtheria.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Howard, their four daughters and sons-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Farnsworth, of Bolsa; Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Wallace, of Garden Grove; Mr. and Mrs. Dan Butler, of Los Angeles; and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Fields, of San Bernardino; their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Howard, of Silver Acres; thirteen grandchildren, Mrs. Maggie Cox and Mr. Cox, of Pasadena; Mr. and Mrs. R. Turner, Wesley, Cora and Esther Wallace, of Garden Grove; Mary and Howard Butler, of Los Angeles; Virginia Fields and Harrell Howard, of San Bernardino; Johnnie, Clarence, Virgil and Thelma Jean Howard, of Silver Acres; two great grandchildren, Geraldine and Nadine Cox, of Pasadena; a niece, Mrs. Arthur Lewis of Orange; Mr. Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Miller of Garden Grove, Mrs. Miller being a niece of Mrs. Howard.

County W. C. T. U. Instructor Gives Placentia Program

PLACENTIA, June 14.—The program of the W. C. T. U. was presented by Mrs. Pearl Kendall Hess, county scientific temperance instructor, at the regular meeting, held on the lawn of the W. W. Blackmer ranch home Tuesday.

Mrs. Blackmer, Miss Ada Sturdevant and the president, Mrs. Guy L. Kay were hostesses.

Mrs. Hess presented the work of some of the pupils who participated in the contests put on by the organization. Eight thousand children from the fourth grade to eighth, wrote essays and made posters in the campaign.

Mrs. Hess was assisted by Warren Ingham, who won first prize in fourth grade stories. Warren read his prize essay. He is a Placentia student.

At the close of the program, the hostesses served tea and cake. Three new members signed the pledge, and several future citizens were presented with the white ribbon.

The next meeting will be an all day meeting, July 11, at the home of Mrs. Mable Tuffree.

Place Order For Church Window

COSTA MESA, June 14.—An order was placed recently by the Community church for the triple window in the front of the church. This will be done in beautiful antique glass by the American Art Glass company, of Los Angeles. Hoffmann's figure of Christ in his picture, "Come Unto Me," will be in the center panel, with arms outstretched to all who comes and to all who pass by. He will be standing before an open door (the door of the church itself), to express his words, "I am the door." The vine with its fruit, over the portal, suggests, "I am the true vine," and a sheaf of wheat by the step, "I am the bread of life." The path which opens toward the beholder reminds that He is "The way." In the side windows are shown the words, "Come unto me" and "Go ye into all the world," and in the oblong panels of glass used in those windows will appear in outline various other symbols of Christ, such as the Alpha and Omega, the crook of the Good Shepherd, the easy yoke, the Light of the World, and others.

Above it, the round window is the window of the Spirit, for in the center is to be the descending dove, and in the side apertures will appear torches of fire, for the baptism by fire. This window is being made by the George Hardy Payne studios, of Paterson, N. J., as is also the Fra Angelico portrait of Christ in the north window.

Work is going ahead rapidly says the pastor, the Rev. Lyman R. Bayard. The superintendent of construction is E. W. Smith, of Santa Ana.

"That's the loveliest thing you've ever worn"

"When the handsomest man in the office asked me to go to the Annual Picnic with him, I was so thrilled that I bought a new dress in honor of the occasion—a lovely white zephyr-weight sweater frock flecked with metal thread—then foolishly wore it two days before the picnic, and spilled strawberries down the front!

"Though I didn't believe the material was really washable, I decided to wash it in Lux. And the results were truly marvelous! The dress came out like new.

"At the picnic, he said it was the loveliest thing I had ever worn. And said, too, that he thought I was the best-dressed girl in the office!

"As I do not spend as much on clothes as many of the girls, I must give the credit to Lux for keeping even my everyday office things fresh, unfaded, new-looking more than twice as long."—Marie Long, 1629 Everett Ave., Louisville, Ky.

[Every musical show in New York uses
Lux to keep stockings and costumes new-looking twice as long!]

"How do you keep them so fluffy and new-looking?"

"I wash all my good table linens, my bedspreads and blankets with Lux, just as I do my stockings and underthings.

"Recently, a friend happened to drop in just as I was putting my blankets away after their spring washing. She asked if the pink ones I had in my arms could possibly be the same ones I got five years ago.

"My blankets are only two years old," she said, "and they are matted and shrunken. How do you keep yours so soft and fluffy?"

"When I told her I washed mine with Lux she said, 'That explains it—I thought any soap would do for such heavy things as blankets.' Now she, too, has beautiful blankets, thanks to Lux."—Victoria Wallace, 2920 Avenue E., Ft. Worth, Texas.

LAGUNA NAMES COUNSEL FOR ROAD PAVING

LAGUNA BEACH, June 14.—Consideration of the fire ordinance, resolutions accepting deed to a lot which becomes a public street and for the employment of special counsel for an improvement district, with plans and specifications ordered for five streets in an improvement district, the calling of a general meeting to consider such matters were chief items of the session of the council last evening. Councilman Dr. B. B. Mason presided as mayor pro tem, in the absence of Mayor Frank B. Champion.

Employment of Robert W. Wygant, of Los Angeles, as special counsel for acquisition and improvement district No. 1, being the widening and paving of Broadway under the Matton act, was authorized by resolution. Mr. Wygant's bid was three per cent, against four per cent as the next lowest.

Further consideration of the first ordinance, much amended, necessitating treating it as a new ordinance. It went to the second reading. Hours for burning rubbish or grass were not defined, but in fire zone A, the business district, incinerators are required which meet with the approval of the fire chief or his deputies. Beach fires may not be kept going after 1 a. m.

Petitions for the improvement of Second, Third and Main streets, all in the downtown area, asked for the amendment of the previous petition, approved several months ago. The substitution of asphaltic concrete for oil is asked. Plans and specifications were ordered previously. By motion last night the council added the petition for an unnamed street one block in length in the downtown area, and first street for one block. All are to have walks, ornamental lights, five-inch asphaltic concrete paving, gutters and walks. Alleys in blocks A and B were excluded because of defects in title.

That the elected city treasurer, Verner Rush, may accept the position and qualify by giving bond, was the assertion of City Attorney Vernon W. Hunt. Arrangements have also been made, he said, with the Citizens bank to become depository for city funds. It was reported last week at the council meeting that the bank did not care to act in that capacity.

Orange Votes Friday On School Bonds

ORANGE, June 14.—Great interest is being taken in the $500,000 school bond election to be held here tomorrow. Voters will decide the question of erection of a new school to take the place of the present Lemen street school.

The bonds were defeated at an election held a month ago. Civic leaders are endorsing the bonds.

PLACENTIA ADOPTS SCHOOL RESOLUTION

PLACENTIA, June 14.—The education committee of the Placentia Chamber of Commerce presented the revised resolution it has been working on, at the luncheon meeting Tuesday for its adoption. This is a first step in an effort to bring the high school districts of northern Orange county together in an effort to establish a joint junior college. A copy of the resolution was ordered mailed to the boards of the Fullerton, the Brea-Olinda and the Anaheim union high school districts, to the chambers of commerce and to the newspapers of the territory involved.

H. H. Hale, Winthrop Brown and William Bielefeldt, the committee on education, were thanked for the work in preparing this resolution on Placentia's stand on the school situation.

C. E. Perdue, who made his initial appearance, was welcomed as a newcomer to the community and to the editorship of the Courier. He recently bought the paper of Col. Henry E. Honey.

Following an address of farewell by Charles Lee, the individuals of the organization expressed their regrets at having Mr. Honey give up his activities in the community and expressed their thanks to him and Mrs. Kennedy, his assistant, for the co-operation they have given in helping the city. Perdue was voted in as director to succeed Mr. Honey.

Dr. F. J. Yerke, formerly of Burbank and Los Angeles, made his first appearance and was welcomed as a new resident dentist.

Guests of the day were Miss Eva Dixon, A. Van Fleet and C. E. Smith. Miss Dixon was introduced by Louis Jacobson as the one who packed the fruit for the exhibit of the chamber. The display won second place in plate display.

Supper Planned By Mesa Church

COSTA MESA, June 14.—The evening of June 21 at the clubhouse a 50 cent supper will be served for the benefit of the organ fund of the Community church, of which Fred Siefert is chairman. The response made on that evening will largely determine the question of the purchase of an organ at this time.

A used Eusey organ now in Los Angeles is offered the committee for $2000, and a new Moller organ, specially constructed for this church, can be had for $3000. Only 200 tickets are available for this event. The Sunday school orchestra will play and Mrs. Homer Melott will sing.

MESA M. W. A. C. OF C. PLAN NEW BUILDING

COSTA MESA, June 14.—A new building to house the chamber of commerce and the M. W. A. is projected in Costa Mesa. It was indicated at regular chamber session Tuesday, when Emil Greener, vice-president, spoke briefly on the financing of such a structure.

Details have been worked out. A definite decision on the matter is expected to be made some time this summer.

Plans were made to co-operate with Newport Beach in getting the west side of Fairview paved and rights of way completed north to Talbert road.

It is expected the plans will be worked out whereby a list of prizes will be given for the best plot grounds with the intention of encouraging landscaping.

Dieth and Anderson, attorneys on the high school suit, reported that the brief will be filed soon. Reports were made that the crossings at Sixteenth street and Bay avenue are now being installed by the Southern Pacific railroad company.

The invitation from the San Pedro Armistice day celebration committee to enter a float or some other feature in their celebration on November 11 was declined in view of the similar celebration in Orange.

The public improvement committee, with LeRoy Anderson as chairman, was instructed by the chair to obtain data on location and cost of an airway sign for Costa Mesa, which lies directly in the path of the coast air line and report at the next meeting.

Emil Greener was instructed to request the Auto Club of Southern California to place signs at intersections of Talbert road and Huntington Beach boulevard and at intersections of Fairview and Talbert and at the end of the present.

GOVERNMENT ASSISTANCE FOR NEWPORT HARBOR PREDICTED BY EXCHANGE CLUB SPEAKER

NEWPORT BEACH, June 14.—A prediction that government assistance would be forthcoming for the development of Newport harbor within the next seven years was made at the meeting of the Exchange club here yesterday by Edward F. Trefz, former organizer of the United States Chamber of Commerce, former associate of Herbert Hoover and at present connected with the Dana Point organization. Trefz declared that Southern California was destined to become the most thickly populated portion of the world within the next 20 years.

He stated that the coast of Southern California from Long Beach to San Diego was the finest in scenery, climate and for living conditions of any beach or resort in the world. He pointed out that this year huge sums of money are being spent to divert the annual European traffic to California.

A prediction that if a stock slump comes this year the capital ordinarily going into stocks would be invested in California was made by the speaker. He said that statistics showed that each year more than two million dollars was spent on the Riviera and indicated that Southern California would be far more popular than the Riviera as it becomes known to the pleasure seeking element. He also gave figures which showed that during the past year more than 500,000 persons have visited Southern California and spent a total of more than $125,000,000.

Southern California, the speaker said, has climate, scenery and historic association, which are the three things demanded by vacationists. He declared that eastern banking interests were becoming interested in California investments, and predicted that within 25 years there will be a wonderful harbor at Newport Beach.

Commercial statistics, data on the formation of the first Rotary club and a short industrial review which showed the great increase in the exports of manufactured articles from the United States brought his talk to a close.

Eugene Fenelon, president of the club, was in charge of the meeting, which was held at the Newport Harbor Yacht club. It was decided at the meeting to send a delegation of five members to a conference to be held at Lynwood Thursday night. Reports of various committees were given. Judge W. A. Leonard, city police judge and a member of the committee on the joint meeting of the local Exchange club with the Costa Mesa Lions club, was placed in charge of fines for those who do not attend the joint session.

A new Exchange club emblem is to be purchased by the local club. The organization has never had a plaque bearing the club emblem. It was also decided by members of the organization to investigate a charity case. The club probably will send a local boy to the Orange county health camp for the summer.

Musical Program For Mesa Church

COSTA MESA, June 14.—Sunday evening the Community church choir at Costa Mesa will give a special evening of music. The members will sing Mozart's "Lord, Our God," Barnby's "O Lord, How Manifold Are Thy Works," and Roberts' "Bless Ye the Lord," with Mrs. Ed Bennett as soloist. Mrs. Homer Melott will sing Lane's "Good-Night." The congregation will participate and the pastor will speak briefly. The morning theme will be "Jesus' Identification of Himself with His Followers."

EXCAVATING AT NEW HOSPITAL FINISHED SOON

ORANGE, June 14.—Excavating work on the Sisters of St. Joseph hospital on Stewart drive is expected to be completed by the first of the week. The city of Orange removed the water main that ran directly under the site of the building last week.

The hospital occupies a three-acre site one block east of North Main street. It will be four stories in height and will contain 150 rooms. The hospital will be 41 by 278 feet and the nurses' home, which will be connected with it by arches, will be 42 by 175 feet. The laundry which will be in a separate building, will be 40 by 80 feet.

It is expected that the two units will be completed by January 1.

Welfare Board To Convene June 15

ORANGE, June 14.—The last meeting of the welfare board for the year will be held on June 15. A luncheon will be served at the American Legion hall.

The reports of committees will be heard at this time and other business will be transacted. It is expected that informal meetings of the board will be held during the summer months as the operation of the welfare store will continue without interruption.

Members of the W. R. C. have had charge of the store during the past month. The next formal gathering of the board will be in September.

Fiesta Plans Adopted At Laguna Beach

LAGUNA BEACH, June 14.—Plans for the fourth fiesta carnival of nations, to be held by the Community club, August 15, 16, 17 and 18, were adopted when the directors met early this week and committees will be appointed at a membership meeting called for Friday evening.

The program as outlined at present contemplates opening the fiesta with a parade on the evening of August 15, the participants to be in costume representing various nations as an elaboration of last year's pageant program by the club. This will be followed by a dance at the club.

DIRECTORS NAMED BY GROVE C. OF C.

GRDEN GROVE, June 14.—The annual election of directors of the Garden Grove Chamber of Commerce was held at the regular monthly meeting and luncheon at the Lantern Cafe Monday.

C. C. Arrowsmith presided at the meeting. The following directors were elected for the ensuing year: J. G. Allen, C. C. Arrowsmith, F. E. Anderson, E. M. Dierker, C. S. Holt, Vernon King, H. A. Lake, J. C. Mitchell, E. J. Schneider, L. W. Schauer, E. J. Tobias, J. M. Woodworth and Dr. C. C. Violett.

The directors will meet for luncheon at Garden Grove inn Monday noon for the purpose of electing officers and two delegates to the Associated Chamber of Commerce.

LARGE ATWOOD OIL GAS WELL ON PRODUCTION

ATWOOD, June 14.—Mullen No. 1, known as the "barefoot well," is flowing 915 barrels of oil, having been completed this week. The well came in some time ago before the crew was ready for the flow.

There is a pressure of 850 pounds on the tubing and the well is making 300,000 cubic feet of gas a day. The oil is clean, of 255 degrees gravity.

The well has renewed the interest of "lease holders."

The Union Oil company brought in a fairly good well recently in Morse No. 6. The eight-inch pipe was set 4688 feet and the well is making 246 barrels of oil a day, 245 degrees gravity with a cut of 11 per cent.

Morse No. 1 is in brown shale and oil sand at 3330 feet and Morse No. 8 is drilling at 3160 feet.

The Union Oil company is starting to drill in the East Coyote district once more, the new location for a well being located 724 feet south and 935 feet west of the northeast corner of the Hole lease. The new well will be Hole No. 19 and a road is being built to it.

It was voted to have the fire department take charge of cleaning up vacant lots throughout the town, commencing Tuesday.

J. M. Woodworth gave a report on the ornamental lights. It was agreed not to present a petition to the supervisors regarding ornamental lights unless two-thirds of the property owners signed the petition.

Music Recital

The musical evening given by the Melody Way piano class of Roosevelt school, under the direction of Miss Gladys Campbell, attracted a large crowd to the school. All were well-pleased with the program, which demonstrated how children may be taught the fundamentals of music.

The program opened with a class demonstration which illustrated the training given. These classes are formed of about a dozen children and it was explained that several of those taking part in the program, have no piano in their homes, yet are doing fine work with the instruction received at school.

Those giving the first demonstration were Earl Ruddy, Josephine Keeler, Evelyn Coffman, Lynn Sherrill, Martha Zikert, Irene Lunbak, Edith Johnson, Evelyn Beese, Bobby Speed, Thelma Hicks, Vivian Elliott and Dorothy Gauntner.

Buddy Fagenkopp gave a group of readings, after which Earl Ruddy played "To a River"; Etta Lounsbury played "My Pony"; and Earl Ruddy played "The Mocking Bird." The entertaining song "Little Wooden Shoes" was given with Elise Hickey as the Little Dutch Girl, Stanley Sebastian as accompanist, and Milton Smith, Ingeborg Immier, Kathryn Gore, Jean Rush, Eugene Rogers, Ruth Finch, Virginia Scott and Glennia Pollard, as the group taking part. "Evening Song" by Ingeborg Immier was followed by another reading by Master Buddy, and by "Lightly Row" by Bobby Speed and "Lady Moon" by Milton Smith. The rhythmic game, "Play Ball," was presented by Isabel McCormick, Ruth Beaker, Etta Lounsbury, Glennia Diamond, June Corray, Glennia Ruddy, George Paul, Betty Neff, Caroline Roberts, Clinton Roberts and Ralph Wheeler.

"Sleep Baby Sleep" by Josephine Keeler, with Lynn Sherrill as accompanist, was followed by an interesting demonstration by young Ralph Keeler, of his ability to transpose in any key suggested by Miss Campbell. "Happiness" was given by Isabel McCormick and Glennia Diamond, and "Slumber Song" by Irene Lunbak. Buddy Fagenkopp brought this section of the program to a close with one of his readings.

Children who have had a short term of private lessons from Miss Campbell in addition to their school studies, were presented in the remainder of the program. Patsy Borgwardt played "The Birthday Party," and Dean Howell gave "The Story of Uncle Remus." After Preston Piper gave "Little Chinsaman" and Buddy Fagenkopp read, Loraine Wheeler gave "Little Chinsaman" and Buddy Fagenkopp read, Loraine Wheeler gave "Dance Grottoque." Richard Rutledge, Jean Rush and James Tucker presented "Magic Music" and Emrika Wilde was accompanist for an ensemble with Frances McWaters, Dorothy Allen, Roy Corry and Norma Holmes.

Ebell Music Section
Gives Program of Opera Music

Concluding a year of unusually brilliant and worth-while programs, Ebell's Music section members this week presented guest night in the clubhouse, offering their friends an opportunity to hear a few of the musical features which have been given at their monthly morning meetings during the year.

Since they have made a special study of operas, many operatic numbers were included, beginning with "The Heart Bowed Down" from Balfe's "Bohemian Girl," sung by Maurice Phillips, with Mrs. Livesey as accompanist.

Mrs. Harry Hayes sang two soprano solos, "The Swallow" by Eva del Acqua, and "Pale Prophet" by Scott, with Miss Mabel Krause at the piano. This was followed by a reading, "A Heart Rending Affair" by Miss Louise Germann, and a piano solo, a Chopin Nocturne in E flat, played by Miss Dorothy Hammen of Huntington Beach, a pupil of Miss Leonora Tompkins.

Mrs. Mit Phillips, the Music section's boasted charter member, who had belonged for twenty-eight years, sang two numbers, "When Cecil Sings" by Frank Mole, and "Philosophy" by Emil. Miss Nell Isaacson was her accompanist.

The remainder of the program was all operatic, and included "The Bird Song" from Puccini sung by Marie Bishop, with Ione Tunison Peek at the piano. The quartet from Rigoletto (Verdi) was sung by Mrs. Harry Hayes, Miss Alice Folsom, Holmes Bishop and Neal D. Pritchett, with Miss Krause as accompanist, after which Holmes Bishop sang the Serenade from "Faust" by Gounod. Mrs. Peek was his accompanist, as she was for the final number of the program, "Down Ye Tyrants" from Il Trovatore (Verdi) sung by Neal D. Pritchett.

The entire program was beyond criticism, each artist giving a remarkably beautiful performance. To crown the evening, the section members had planned a social hour during which refreshments were served. Mrs. Harry Hayes is assistant leader of the group, and during the absence of the leader, Mrs. B. H. Sharpless, has filled that position in a very satisfactory manner.

Aiding her in receiving the guests in the peacock room, were Mrs. Victor Montgomery and Mrs. William G. Knox. Mrs. Neal D. Pritchett had charge of the program, while Mrs. C. C. Violet and Mrs. George Raeburn had charge of serving refreshments.

YOU and your friends
Mrs. Ida Fowlow and son Robert and daughter Frances, have gone to San Francisco, for a visit, sailing on the H. F. Alexander. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Owens arrived from their honeymoon stay in Big Bear, Tuesday, and were guests of Mrs. Owen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Sauer of Yorba street, until today when they left for their new home in Los Angeles. Mrs. Owens was Miss Laurene Sauer, and their wedding was an event of June 5.

Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Hermon and son Frederick, are enjoying a vacation in Hawaii, having sailed on the SS. City of Los Angeles. Miss Estelle Schlessinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Schlessinger, 417 South Birch street, will sail tomorrow on the H. F. Alexander for a visit with relatives in San Francisco.

Miss Dorothy O. Hurd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hurd, 328 East Camille street, has returned from Stockton, where she attended the College of the Pacific this past semester. Miss Hurd will be a senior at the college next year.

Dr. and Mrs. John Wehrly departed by automobile today for Portland, where Dr. Wehrly will attend conventions of the National Tuberculosis association and the Pacific Coast Roentgen Ray association. The Santa Ana physician will address the latter convention on Thursday of next week on the subject, "Is Thyroiditis Due to Focal Infection?" The Tuberculosis Association convenes on Monday and the conference of the other organization follows its conclusion.

Miss Eleanor V. Guyer, a senior at University of California at Los Angeles, and a member of Chi Delta Phi sorority, will graduate with high honors on Friday night. Miss Guyer will return to her home here by her grandmother, Mrs. M. E. Towle, 420 East Washington avenue, and after the summer vacation, expects to take up teaching.

Concluding Party of Bridge Series at Country Club

In presenting the last of a series of unusually pretty summer-time parties, Mrs. E. S. Gilbert of 420 South Main street, greeted a small group of close friends at a luncheon and bridge given Tuesday at Santa Ana Country Club.

Flowers used in profusion to adorn the clubhouse and luncheon tables, were showered on the hostess by several friends, including Mrs. Charles S. Kendall, Mrs. John I. Clark, Mrs. Archie V. Herr, Mrs. Leo Daniels of Costa Mesa, and Mrs. L. P. Yandell, Mrs. Gilbert's mother.

Bridge succeeded the pleasant lunch hour, and at the conclusion of the contest, the hostess awarded a prize to the one scoring high at each table. Among those so rewarded were Mrs. C. M. Jordan of Long Beach, who comes over frequently for social affairs here in her former home, Mrs. William A. Flood, Mrs. Kendall and Mrs. Herr. Mrs. Gilbert's earlier parties included one given with Mrs. A. V. Herr and Mrs. C. S. Kendall, and another in which she and Mrs. Kendall joined.

Piano Recital

An informal recital was given by the pupils of Mrs. Lola B. Wilkinson at the studios of the Santa Ana Branch of the Los Angeles Academy of Music in the Greenleaf building on Tuesday night. Before playing each pupil announced the titles and composers of her pieces and also gave a brief description and analysis of them.

Especially pleasing was the work done by little June Bruner, age 8, who played a Bach "Minuet in G," "On the Blue Lagoon" by Mattingly and a duet, "Laughing Waters" by Millington with Mrs. Wilkinson. Other pupils who deserved special mention for their playing were Mary Elizabeth Emison who played "Gertrude's Dream Waltz" by Beethoven, very daintily, and Nina June Robertson who played "Salute to the Colors" by Anthony, in real military style. The guests were greatly amused by the description Geraldine Alder gave of the Grottoque Reel by Crosby, and her playing proved just as interesting as her description. Special mention should also be made of the manner in which Harriet Skinner played the "Little Gossips" by Crosby, and "A Windy Day" by Wright.

Country Club Setting
Chosen for Smart
Dinner Dance

Santa Ana Country club has been the scene of many brilliant functions since its opening several years ago, but none of them has surpassed in charm, the dinner dance given there last night, for none has had more fully, the charm of youth. For a group of young men of Polytechnic high school, were hosts, entertaining an equal number of lovely girls.

Tables for dinner, were particularly attractive, and at the places of the honored guests, were slender sterling silver bud vases, each holding a perfect rosebud. The vases were dinner favors, later to be carried proudly home by their new owners. The dinner hour was made lively by the amusing toasts, and Delmer Brown, president of the hosts' club organization, was acclaimed a clever toastmaster.

Dancing afterwards was to radio or Orthophonic music, and the bevy of young girls in their dance frocks of delicate hues, were the most decorative feature of the evening, although their sister flowers from the garden, were used in profusion.

Arrangements for the party, were made by Roger Hearn, a past president of the organization, and the young people were chaperoned by Mrs. William Spurgeon.

In the group were the Misses Jean Peacock, Helen Spangler, Virginia Bailey, Florence Brownridge, Olive Granger, Ethel West, Frances Vieira, Marcia Huber, Sherill Spurgeon, Mildred Foster, Elaine Flanders, Ada Marie Hendrickson and Clara Kate Owens, while the hosts were Messrs. Neil Hall, Delmer Brown, Charles Homan, Monty Flanders, Orville Schuchardt, Roger Hearn, George Warner, Cliff Belding, Vincent Dixon, "Bill" Dugger, Kenneth Manderscheid, Clarence Speer and Carl Planchon.

Sorority Chapter Has Enjoyable Party in Balboa Cottage

Epsilon chapter members of Alpha Chi Omega, were entertained yesterday at a delightful all-day beach party, with Miss Betty Donohue of Los Angeles, and Miss Virginia Slabaugh of this city, as hostesses who greeted their guests at "Akarsen-by-the-Sea, the delightful summer home of the Dr. F. W. Slabaugh at Balboa.

The party was a compliment to Miss Aida Mills of Los Angeles, one of the graduating seniors of the sorority, who on June 17 will wed Ronald Steever of Alhambra, Mr. Steever, like his fiancée, is a student at University of Southern California, where he is a Phi Psi. Both Miss Mills and her mother, were entertained yesterday, and over a score of the chapter members motored down for the delightful day, reaching the cottage by 10 o'clock in the morning.

Swimming and beach sports occupied the time until luncheon, when small tables were called into service and the appetizing menu was served buffet style. Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh aided the two young hostesses in all details of hospitality.

The afternoon hours were spent as fancy dictated, some of the guests seeking the bay or surf for swimming, others turning their attention to bridge. Before the gay affair came to a close, Miss Slabaugh and Miss Donohue presented a set of Madeira napkins to their bonnet guest, as an engagement gift.

Miss Slabaugh reached home last Saturday from her studies at University of Southern California, and will spend much of the summer with her parents in the beach cottage.

Santa Ana Student at Harvard University
Weds Boston Girl

An eastern wedding which will be of much interest to Santa Ana, was that of Ralph A. Beale, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Beale, 1016 French street, and Miss Alice Stone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Stone of Boston, the wedding having taken place in Appleton chapel, Harvard university, Tuesday morning.

Mr. Beale and his bride will sail from New York tomorrow, for Europe, where the former will study at Oxford, and the latter will go on to Germany for a summer's post-graduate work. Mr. Beale had intended returning to Santa Ana for the summer, and had already refused a scholarship which would have kept him in the east, but when he was awarded the Dexter scholarship of Harvard university, with its summer at Oxford, the prospect was too tempting to refuse. He will work on his thesis for a Ph. D. degree.

Mr. Beale is a Santa Ana high school graduate, and completed his course at Berkeley in 1931. He had a break in health which prevented him from continuing his studies for some two years, but having fully recovered, is now completing his third year of teaching and studying at Harvard. Upon his return next fall, he will teach English in Washington University, New York City.

His bride is a graduate of Radcliffe College for Women and has been a teacher of German in Hunter College, New York City. This is her second year of study in Europe. The two young people will meet in Paris for their home-ward voyage, at the expiration of their summer of university work.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Business and Professional Women have an interesting program in store for them at their meeting next Monday noon in St. Ann's Inn, for Miss Grace Roberts of the June program committee, has secured as speaker, A. T. Jackson of Los Angeles, district passenger agent of the Union Pacific, whose subject will be Zion National park, Bryce Canyon, and other scenic attractions reached by the U. P. The talk will be an illustrated one, and Manager Robert L. Bigby has promised to have the dining-room arranged so that the pictures will reproduce on a screen. The speaker's subject is considered especially interesting.

Santa Ana Country club will be rendezvous tomorrow night for bridge playing members who will gather for the final club card party of the season. Since it is the last of the successful series of evening bridges, Mrs. McGowan is making elaborate plans for the entertainment of a large guest group. Playing will begin promptly at 8 o'clock, and members planning to be present, are asked to make their table reservations in advance. The usual plan of refreshments and attractive prizes will be followed.

The WOMAN'S DAY- ALLENE JAMES

An old and a young mother save their lives for their children the other day. Mrs. Vortice Alton of Fairmont, Ind., hurried herself upon the knife of a disbarrow on her knee in order to keep it from passing over the body of her little 5-year-old son who had fallen before it.

Mrs. Elizabeth A. Freeman, 80, of Bradford, Pa., died in saving the life of her middle-aged daughter, Mrs. Gertrude Cook. Mother and daughter were cleaning house when the daughter broke through the railing of the second floor porch. The aged mother held her as long as she could, but was unable to pull her back, and was dragged with her daughter to the sidewalk below rather than give up her grasp. The mother died 15 minutes later. The daughter will live.

And such is the power of the maternal instinct that it is more merciful for each mother to die than to see her child die. Much is said about the price of motherhood, its bonds and responsibilities. The biggest price is the constant fear engendered by too much mother love.

Another maternal love story. Nearly 22 years ago Mrs. Grace Wilson saw her baby Ethel for the last time when the child's father took it away from her. The mother now has begun wandering over the whole earth searching like crazed Dementor for her Persephone. Her trail takes her from one city to another, wherever she heard of her husband's presence.

How rarely we hear of a child dedicating its whole life to finding a missing parent—probably because parents don't often get misplaced as children do. Probably, too, because Nature means the race to go on and not back and makes each generation more concerned with the one ahead than the one behind!

A potato-tomato plant has been perfected which gives us potatoes downstairs and tomatoes upstairs. In other words, the roots of the plant grow potatoes and the fruit on the vine above the earth is tomatoes. This is real news. Nothing in the long run is so important to human welfare in general as the production of more and better food. It must be that or fewer people. If the people do not decrease proportionately with the increase, better brains must see to it that all vines and trees and roots and grain bear to fullest capacity—to the extent of pumpkins and raspberries on one stalk.

THE TINYMITES

(Read The Story, Then Color The Picture)

"I'm glad our boat will be all right," said Scouty, "but it's out of sight. How are we going to find it, when we're stranded way up here. There's naught but water down below. Where we can go to, I don't know. Perhaps you've tried to aid us, but you've hindered us, I fear."

Then Clowny cried, "That isn't kind to say such things. I think you'll find that his intentions were real good. Let's wait until we see." The flying man then said, "Thanks, lad! I'm glad you do not think I'm bad. And don't you worry 'bout your boat. Just leave that all to me."

"This platform, built upon this tree, is just the place for you to be. You will not have to wait so long until you'll know I'm right. If you all wish to go, right now, back to your boat, I'll show you how. I'd like to have you stay a while, but it is nearing night." The man then pointed to a place that brought a smile to each one's face. It was a little opening along the platform's side. Then Coppy cried, mild merry hoots, "Why, it's a dandy shoot-the-chutes. It really looks quite tempting. Can we Timies take a ride?" "Of course you can," their kind friend said. "Just sit right down and go ahead. All small folks like to shoot-the-chutes because it's heaps of fun. It's safe, because it isn't rough, and you will find it's steep enough to give you all a thrilling trip when all your riding's done."

"This slide is going to make a hit with me," cried Clowny. "Watch me sit right down and show you how it's done." The bunch began to roar. Then, with

In the deep, cool shade of the veranda . . .

LATE in the afternoon when the heat of the day is spent you sit on the veranda reading a summer book. Perhaps a few friends call. Perhaps you are there alone and a neighbor comes across the lawn. And you welcome your friend.

These little occasions offer an appropriate time to serve "Canada Dry." It is a delicious beverage, with a subtle gingery taste, with a dryness and thirst-quenching allure which instantly appeals.

The delicate flavor of "Canada Dry" is partly due to pure Jamaica ginger; partly to the blending and balancing, under rigid laboratory methods, of the purest ingredients. It has no bite because it contains no capicum (red pepper). "Canada Dry" is mild, mellow and "dry." In short, it is a real ginger ale. And because of its secret method of carbonation it is especially good for you in summer-time. Order "Canada Dry" in the convenient Hostess Package of 12 bottles. Then you always have some on hand.

THE THEATRE

WEST END THEATRE

Father-and-son love is the theme of "Sorrell and Son," the production of Warwick Deeping's best-selling novel and now showing at the West End theater.

H. B. Warner appears as Stephen Sorrell, and Mickey McBan and Nils Asther enact, respectively, the child Kit and the matured Kit Sorrell. The notable cast includes Anna Q. Nilsson as Dora Sorrell; Carmel Myers as Florence Palfrey; Norman Trevor as Thomas Roland; Alice Joyce as Fanny Garland; Mary Nolan as Molly Roland; and Louis Wolheim as Sergeant Buck.

Much of "Sorrell and Son" was filmed in England.

WEST COAST-WALKER

"Wings," the war aviation spectacle which opens at the West Coast-Walker theater tonight, promises to establish several innovations tending toward realism in motion pictures.

In the first place, none of the players (including Clara Bow, Jobyna Johnston, Arlette Marchal and other women in the cast) used any make-up.

Second, panchromatic film was used exclusively in photographing exterior scenes, thus reproducing the fleecy clouds which form an impressive background for the many thrilling duels in the air. "Wings" is the only feature film ever made which has used the costly panchromatic film exclusively. Robert Flaherty obtained many of his beautiful scenes in "Moana" with panchromatic.

But more important, none of the thrilling scenes, the airplane crashes, the destruction of captive balloons, the bombing of a French village, and other equally difficult scenes were made with the aid of trick photography. All of the stunts actually were performed. Dick Grace, who was on the first page last summer because of his attempt to fly from Hawaii to California, broke his neck, it is said, while cracking a plane for one of the big scenes in "Wings."

YOST BROADWAY THEATRE

Lois Moran, who has the feminine lead in "Love Hungry," current attraction at the Yost Broadway theater, is one of the most famous of America's younger actresses.

She was born in Pittsburgh, educated in America, France and England and got her initial dramatic training in Paris.

Miss Moran's first screen work was in France, but she owes her allegiance to Samuel Goldwyn and William Fox. It was the former who gave her an opportunity to work with Belle Bennett in "Stella Dallas." It was William Fox who placed her under long-term contract and instructed his co-workers to cast her in the finest roles under the most capable directors. The cast includes Lawrence Gray, Edythe Chapman, James Neill, John Patrick and Marjorie Beebe.

GLOBE RECORD IS SOUGHT BY NEW YORK MEN

NEW YORK, June 14.—Infused with the idea of circling the globe faster than any human being has ever been able to do it, a theatrical producer and a former air mail pilot soon will attempt to blaze a new trail around the earth by land, air and sea.

Confident of the ability of their Fairchild cabin monoplane "City of New York" to carry them swiftly over Europe, Asia, Japan and North America, John Henry Mears, theatrical man, and Charles B. D. Collier, who formerly flew in the air mail service, expect to better by five days the 28 day mark set by Linton Wells and Edwin Evans in 1928.

Because the plane has a cruising radius of but 2000 miles, Mears and Collier will place the "City of New York" aboard the French liner "Le de France" which sails from New York on June 30.

When the ship is about 700 miles out to sea, Mears and his colleague expect to fly from New York and board the vessel from an airplane in an effort to reduce their elapsed time.

The monoplane will be taken from the steamship and reassembled at Havre, France, and the globe-circlers will fly in it to Berlin. From there they will fly to Moscow, thence to Kourjan, Krasnojarsky, Chita, Mukden and Tokyo to Yokohama, where the plane will be taken aboard the steamer Empress of Russia, to Victoria, B. C.

From Victoria they will fly to New York City, making an intermediate stop in some mid-western city.

The "City of New York" has a 525 horsepower Pratt and Whitney "hornet" motor, with a gasoline capacity of 365 gallons. It has folding wings. The fuselage is painted royal purple and the wings are yellow.

Mears established a record for a trip around the world in 1933, when he made the journey in 35 days. Wells and Evans broke that mark.

Soviet To Clamp Lid On Gambling

MOSCOW, June 14.—All gambling houses in the Soviet Union will be closed soon, in accordance with orders issued by the council of people's commissars.

In the Soviet capital this decision spells the doom of the "Casino," where roulette and "chemin du fer" are now played nightly. Similar establishments exist in other cities. They are usually conducted by the government itself. It is rumored that through these gambling houses the authorities were able to keep an eye on some types of speculators.

HERE'S YOUR CHANCE

You who are looking to trade your house or other city property for a good grove will find a special opportunity here. Contains 7 acres and more, completely planted; owns an interest in a pumping plant, and is improved with a very fine home. Besides other outstanding advantages such as a fine lawn and a close-in location, it is highly valuable for its major highway location. Consistent with these good points is the reasonable price, $25,000 being the full amount asked, and if bought but $5000 will suffice. 2792.

ORANGE GROVES

Why don't you buy an Orange Grove in Orange County—the heart of the Valencia Orange district? Much of the wealth in Orange County has been made from oranges. Be sure to get your share.

I have 12 acres of full-bearing Valencia—choicest district in the county—no frost. If you are looking for a larger ranch, I can give you 100 acres near Fullerton with a beautiful home overlooking every tree. I also have 6 acres of Valencia 1-2 mile from Orange that I consider a big bargain.

Many other good buys.

THE MEANING OF OUR FLAG

Today was Flag Day. Not as many observed it as should but we are not greatly disturbed by this. We do not feel that because the folks failed to place Old Glory where it may be seen, that therefore they are necessarily without reverence and respect for what it typifies. But at the same time, in view of the fact that the day is set apart, it seems to us it is a fine opportunity to refresh our memory concerning what the flag stands for, the character of our institutions, the history of our country and a consecration for the future.

We have the most beautiful banner that floats, as the emblem, of any nation on earth. The spirit that is back of that banner, we believe to be the highest that animates any nation on earth. Our history is glorious. We have never fought a war for plunder or for selfishness in any form. To be sure, we find it more difficult in times of peace to have the unselfish life regnant, but in this respect, we possibly are no worse than other nations except that we may be more active and in a sense more virile than some of them.

The flag stands for liberty: for the protection of the helpless and the weak against the unjust aggression of the strong; it suggests human freedom everywhere; it typifies courage and love and purity. It is unfortunate that the outward marks of respect and reverence are generally seen only during a war or immediately before or following it. Our flag should emphasize to us greater service along peaceful lines than along the lines of physical conflict. The number of years we have been engaged in war is few beside the decades we have been free from the sorrows and the burdens of international conflict.

The work of the scientist in his laboratory, the inventor in his shop, the student in his study and the thousands of others in their respective places of labor, with humanity as the objective and with the spirit of helpfulness as the motive, outshines in constructive value, of course all other things. But this also our flag typifies.

We believe that we must think not of martial glory and of battlefields alone when we place the flag at the top of the mast. In fact we wish we could only think of these as a memory, and that they shall no longer curse the mothers and fathers of our race; but we can think of them in the past in honor, because America's attitude in them has been as righteous and as honorable as it is possible for a nation to be in war. But we should think of our flag as floating over a nation that is desirous of outlawing war; over a nation that believes in appealing to the conscience and the reason and not to force; that it floats over a nation that will not attempt to place its will upon any other people with a bludgeon; and that if it draws the sword at all, it will be only for the defense of the weak and for the defense of the principles for which it stands. The flag then will more and more become an emblem of peace, an emblem of tolerance, an emblem of good will, an emblem of justice, an emblem of love and of hope for all people on the earth. It means this now to many. It should mean it to all and the surging power of all these sentiments should be felt through the soul and the floating of the flag from our homes and public places should become a benediction.

A woman drove 2500 miles on a motorcycle to give aid to her son in Toronto, Ont. Yes, woman's place is in the home.

A VISITOR FROM MEXICO

Whatever we may think of the Republic of Mexico and its policies in regard to land rights or religion, we all have a warm feeling of joy for the adventure, and respect and admiration for the young Mexican pilot, Carranza, who yesterday arrived in Washington after an attempted non-stop flight from the City of Mexico. He made a forced landing in North Carolina and the aviators who greeted the 23-year-old boy in Washington, agreed that he showed good airmanship in making the landing.

Courage, daring, ability and self reliance are applauded by the people of the United States as no other people applaud, except possibly the English. We do not know this Mexican boy, but we honor him. He is returning the goodwill visit which Lindbergh made to his people, and we can assure him of our abounding goodwill toward him and his country. We are certain, moreover, that the airman who have taken him in charge will make him feel that there is glory enough and to spare in the navigation of the air. A friendly call on your neighbor is always worth while.

Speaking of the political conventions, you can't always open up a deadlock with a keynote.

CAMPAIGNS AND ADVERTISING

In England, candidates make a cash deposit which is refunded to those who get a reasonable vote. In France it costs nothing to run for office. Portable billboards are provided in every precinct for every office seeker and certain public buildings are open without charge to the candidates. Consequently Frenchmen who are rather thrifty have an eye to the main chance announce their candidacy for the advertising it will give them and the money, and there are thousands of them.

Under the taxpayers are waiting. In this country it is the combination of both. Many men are willing to pay for the advertising for the good of the country and business and are not disappointed sometimes, over the fact that the people take them seriously and nominate and elect them.

THE DIET OF THE MIND

A sprightly writer in Harper's draws an analogy between the gluttons of the dining table and the gluttons of the library table. People learn to gormandize, the writer maintains, during their educational years by dabbling in too great a variety of subjects and the tremendous number of books and magazines and newspapers pouring out a prodigious amount of pre-digested, concentrated facts, furnish just the right diet to develop obesity of the mind. But while the facts are pre-digested they must still be assimilated and this writer says, "The number of people who are unable to hold to one subject for an hour is appalling. . . . At a point far this side of conclusion, most conversations run into the darkness of ignorance."

The analogy is interesting and amusing, especially when the writer reaches the point of prescribing the proper diet for the mind: "Not too many, new ideas," she says, "all the humor we can find, for that has no mental calories—a limited amount of everything else you like—that is the balanced diet for the average mind."

But this author argues from the wrong premise. If one reads and studies simply for the sake of the reading and studying itself, her method and criticism may be good, but most people have a goal in their reading other than that and it is the purpose which governs their assimilations. The multitude of subjects comes from the multitude of interests in our lives today. An average individual has a passing interest in aircraft, radio, automobiles, sports, education, politics, gardening and business or the home or both. A cursory knowledge of all these subjects may result in fatty degeneracy but better that than starving the mind to death. And after all, just as the body can be put to such a use that it can assimilate many calories so the mind can be put to such use by great activity that it can assimilate many ideas.

Who remembers the old days when a candidate feared that his campaign fund would be too small?

APPREHENDING THE BOOTLEGGERS

The prevailing method used by prohibition officers in catching bootleggers, is to get the bootlegger to sell the officer some liquor and then arrest the seller. The officer's efficiency is judged by the number of arrests and convictions. In his zeal to make a good record he sometimes persuades an otherwise innocent man to get the forbidden booze. When this is true and can be proven, the defendant must be freed on the ground that he was entrapped and but for the suggestion of the officer, he would not have sold the liquor.

This method of apprehending liquor sellers is not to be commended. On the other hand, when the officer has reason to believe that a certain person is in the habit of selling liquor, it is perfectly justifiable and praiseworthy for the officer to make the purchase and then make the arrest. Even when the officer goes to great lengths to allay the suspicion of the law breaker and get into his confidence in order to take him in the act, it is not only proper but commendable. What other method is there which promises success? Should the officer reveal his identity before the sale is made? Shall he wait till the bootlegger comes to him with an offer of sale? How many criminals would be brought to justice if there were no secrecy or deception on the part of the officers?

Remember that person who will manufacture and sell liquor under the present state of the law will also probably lie and cheat and often does not hesitate to commit murder to protect himself from the consequences of his offense. The police are not dealing with children or angels, but with criminals. Do you keep a feather duster at hand to fight burglars? We must only insist that the officers do not violate law themselves in their apprehending and capturing bootleggers or other offenders.

OUR CHILDREN

By Angela Patri

ALL OF A SUDDEN
"Tony was the sweetest child you'd want to know. Never gave us the slightest trouble. Then all of a sudden he changed. He is saucy. He doesn't want to get up in the morning. He hates to wash himself. I'm at my wits end to know what to do with him."

He did not get that way all of a sudden. The change had been coming on so gradually that you did not notice it until it had arrived in full force. When the boy of girl is in the childish stage of development he will take suggestions and commands without protest. He seems to enjoy being ordered about. Likes to recite tables and rhymes. Likes the teacher who "makes them mind."

But slowly, day by day, the personality of the child is developing. The precious difference that is going to make him a worth while human being is steadily unfolding, disclosing itself. We have to watch closely to catch the signs and follow them intelligently.

When the child who has always said, "Yes mother," suddenly changes into a redfaced, frowning, glowering child whose body sets in stubborn lines and whose voice takes on threatening tones, you will know that his personality is emerging, or has emerged. It is a tender growth, and very crude. It is to be treated with great tact and discretion, but without fear. Don't mince matters.

Consider well this stranger and use your finest courtesy and common sense. Not only must you live with this new person but you have to help him to live with himself.

It is time now to take the child into partnership a little. Begin sharing things, worries, plans, hopes, problems, with him, even though all you can do is to tell him about them a very little and though all you can expect from him is round eyed amazement and a doubtful smile. Begin shifting a little of the responsibility to his shoulders and letting the weight carry its own message.

When a little daughter acquiesces you with an abrupt declaration that she is going to wear high heeled shoes, VERY high, like those in the advertisements and she won't wear those horrid old flat things any more, instead of losing you much-needed patience, stall for a time. Take her to the shoe shop and let her have a voice in the selection of her shoe—will you have this or that—confining the choice between safe limits, a little more than you would like, a great deal less than she would have. Begin to allow her to choose her way a little and to abide by the results.

If a boy storms and says he won't do so and so, keep patient. Wait until he stops storming and then give him a chance to find a way between what he wants and what he must do. We want the children to grow into self-sustaining people. All we ought to do, once their personalities disclose themselves, is to direct them as wisely as possible and guard them from dangers to which they are by nature exposed.

"What So Proudly We Hail"

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

ONLY A DREAM

I gaze at the dear little photoplay child
With his halo of soft curly hair
Whose ways are so charmingly gentle and mild
And whose face is so lovely and fair,
And reflect with a grateful and heart stirring sigh
What the future will soon have in store,
For the cute little chap will grow up by and by
And he will not appear any more.

In a couple of years those endearing young charms
Which folks gaze on so fondly today
As the urchin is borne in the kidnapper's arms
To some wicked retreat far away,
Will be sullied with whiskers, his ears will enlarge
He'll be awkward and gangling of limb,
He'll be driving a street car or steering a barge
And no more shall we gaze upon him.

We cavil at time when our own years extend
To the bald and bespectacled age,
As our way toward the exits we painfully wend
In our journey across the great stage,
Yet time, we remember, is kind to us too,
While it touches our brows with its blight,
For long before we have departed from view
The movie child slips out of sight.

Alas for the dream of a fond foolish man
Who forgets the statistics of birth
And how nature moves on with the eternal plan
To replenish the fruits of the earth.
When one child departs from the photoplay screen
And we've almost forgotten his face,
Ten others—no twenty or thirty, I ween,
Will be ready to act in his place.

Dr. Crane's Friendly Talk

By Dr. Frank Crane

FLAG DAY

Once a year we are called on to pay particular reverence to the national flag.
The flag is the one totem which still holds sway with intelligent men.

We know that it is a symbol, a mere sign, but it is a symbol of something which is of the utmost importance to all of us. It is a symbol of our national life, of our social group. It does not necessarily mean that we are opposed to any other group or that we hurl defiance at anybody.

Some people always interpret their flag belligerently. It smells of gunpowder. All the canons of ancient wars seem to linger in its folds. To them it means hatred of England, suspicion of European nations and detestation of Mexicans and Japanese.

It was probably a man of this kind in Texas who, advertised himself as a 200 per cent American. He was asked what he meant by being 200 per cent. "Oh," he replied, "I hate everybody!"
With two many men, patriotism is a kind of exalted Chauvinism or bellicosity.

When Golden Rule Jones was made Mayor of Toledo he had the policemen put away their clubs and pistols and wear white gloves. It was to symbolize the fact that policemen existed not to hurt people primarily, nor to arrest them, but to help them. The plan worked.

So our country does not maintain its integrity and cherish its ideals in order that it may be able to defeat or make war upon other countries primarily, but to conserve its own strength and develop its own powers so that it may be a help to the world.

We want to stand to the rest of the nations as a big brother, and not as a possible opponent.
War has practically demonstrated its uselessness. It has been found to be about as costly and wasteful to the conqueror as to the conquered.

But while we are confirmed internationalists and sincerely believe that above all nations is humanity, we should not be what Dr. Butler calls cold internationalists.

In other words, the coming world structure of universal brotherhood will not be formed like a wall of cement or like a glutinous mass, or like a brick wall built up of narrow bricks. The bricks are the nations and the strength of the whole wall or the world edifice will depend upon the sturdiness of the individual nations.

Our devotion to our country, therefore, does not necessarily mean antagonism to any other country, but is a sincere appreciation of our own land and a desire to use them for the benefit of humanity.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By Glenn Frank

WHY ARE MEN IDLE?
As we go into the 1928 campaign, we should try to bring reality instead of rhetoric to the problem of unemployment.

From 1914 to 1919, production in the United States increased 28 per cent.

From 1914 to 1919, the number of workers employed increased 20 per cent.

Since 1919, the story has changed.

From 1919 to 1925, production increased 29 per cent.

From 1919 to 1925, the number of workers employed decreased 5 per cent.

In a few industries the number of workers employed has increased from 1919 to 1925—in the automobile industry, in the printing industry, in the paper industry, and in the stone, clay, and glass industries.

But, by and large, American industry tells the story of rising production and falling employment.

Unemployment comes from two major sources, viz.:
First, the seasonal fluctuation of demand means that, year by year, workers are temporarily thrown out of employment.

Second, scientific improvement in the methods of production means that more and more workers are permanently thrown out of employment, either by increasing the productivity of the workers or by substituting machines for men as agents of production.

Thus there are two unemployment problems—one produced by the seasons, the other induced by science.

What are we to do about these two unemployment problems? Of one thing I think we can be sure—they must be solved, not by dots and subsidies, but by a candid and statesmanlike facing of the factors that produce them.

Two obvious points at which to attack the seasonal employment are, viz.:

First, we must study carefully our buying and consuming habits, and deliberately set out to make sustained every seasonal demand that need not be seasonal. Paychology as well as economics is involved here. On the basis of a nation-wide study of our consuming habits, we must re-educate ourselves out of every unjustified seasonal habit of buying and consuming.

Second, management must accept responsibility for a generalship that will not permit slovenly production and sale by fits and starts. Mediocrity of management lies at the bottom of much of the boom and depression cycle of employment.

The unemployment that comes from the increased efficiency of more machinery and more scientific methods is a harder nut to crack. I shall discuss this another day.

Help For Immigrants

Riverside Enterprise

Most of the seven million aliens in this country came as peasants from central and southern Europe. Their business was done with friends and neighbors by barter, involving little money, and where everyone knew everyone else. In this country they face the complexities of our modern industrial life with its impersonal business relations, where everything is measured in terms of money, where they have few or no friends, no knowledge of our language, laws or customs, and no information as to available work.

Being human they seek people of their own race and experience. Five out of six of them remain where they land, in the congested cities of the Atlantic seaboard, Boston, New York and Philadelphia receive 75 per cent of all the new arrivals in this country. The labor of unskilled foreigners is only profitable where large groups work together at construction work, in mines, foundries, or lumber camps.

Free employment agencies, where existent, are of little help because of language difficulties. Private agencies are worse in that they charge exorbitant registration fees. Working conditions and wages are overstated or misrepresented.

Two great injustices are involved. No serious effort has been made by our federal government to accomplish a better distribution of the incoming immigrants. No effort has been made to inform them of industrial and agricultural needs and opportunities. Here in California, and in Wisconsin, state aid has been given in the initial stages of buying land and in adaptation to American methods.

The greatest injustice we do the foreign born is, unfortunately, almost unconscious on our part. If the American community could be brought to regard the immigrant as a human being and not so much industrial manpower, or so much social dynamite, and take him at his word, we might not hear so much about the immigration problem.

Shrine For an Idol

Oakland Tribune

Helen Wills now holds the unique distinction of claiming at the same time the women's tennis championships of the United States, England and France, and there will be some to say, "What of it?"

There is at least this "of it." With a fine mind as well as a magnificent body, with an untarnished record of courtesy and sportsmanship as well as a long line of victories, Helen Wills is adored by the girl youth of the United States. In the eyes of the young boy youth, it is only the very best of them who worship living "ideals," but so long as they do, they may well be glad that the present generation affords this particular type for the particular quality of youth's worship.

On the grounds of the Berkeley Tennis club not long ago a little girl of nine years shyly approached Helen Wills with a tennis ball in her hand which she asked the champion to autograph. Before the conversation ended, they had made a solemn "date" for a singles match in ten years time. That little girl may never play championship tennis, but there are certain things about losing cheerfully and never gloating and doing one's best without apology or alibi that are written for her on that tennis ball as clearly as the letter of Helen Wills' name. They are qualities independent of success, but it is success which gives them their glow and glory in the eyes of youth.

Because Helen Wills holds the tennis championships of England, France and the United States, sundry girl-youngsters of our land will eat their spinach without protest, will seem to accept a point unearned, will hang on to their tempers in trying situations in emulation of "Miss Fester Face."

Whereupon sundry parents may well be thankful that, since youth must have its idols, an idol of so pleasing a calibre is given the shrine, even though it involves picking up eye shades from under the piano and stepping on stray tennis balls all over the place.

Accident Insurance

Goes Well With Golf

Sacramento Bee

Persons who fancy golf to be a tame sort of game, particularly well suited to such conservative old men as the elder Rockefeller, will be surprised to learn that associates of the Travelers Insurance Company of New York say in number of accidents golf "knocks as the third most dangerous American sport."

Here is the relative showing, by comparison with other outdoor sports popular in America:

"Only two other sports show a larger number of accidents in a given period. Baseball last year headed the list with 421; then came sport "in country or woods" with 331, and then golf with 266.

However, in view of the fact that the Old King, although one of the persistent golf addicts, has survived years of indulgence in the sport, and is without any public record of injury because of it, the insurance calculations is not likely to lessen the number of its devotees.

In fact, knowledge that golf has an element of possible hazard is much more likely to increase than to lessen its vogue in the United States.

Barbs By Tom Sims

Good news from Hollywood, folks. Fifty thousand are said to be unemployed. At least they are not making pictures in which the eye reporter is Sherlock Holmes, in which the villain reforms and marries the district attorney's daughter or in which the farm boy goes to the city and spoils the life of the city.

The American Society of Magicians convened the other day in New York. Probably seeking a solution yet to the "craft cocktail" trick.
